

Police Evict Workers From 8 Paris Plants, Strike Threat Grows

"Popular Front" Government Confronted with Vital Test of Strength as 120,000 Workers Quit Operations.

COMMUNIST AID

Party Support of Strike Grave Threat to People's Front Government.

Paris, Dec. 29 (AP).—Police evicted striking workers from six electric plants and two gas works in Paris today in conformity with Premier Camille Chautemps' assertion that the government would combat the dangerous French strike situation "with the greatest vigor."

Mobile guards were sent into electric plants in the industrial suburb of Puteaux to assure their continued operation.

The "popular front" government of Premier Chautemps was confronted with a vital test of its strength as 120,000 public service employees went on strike in the capital and the threatening wave of strikes began spreading through the provinces.

All food handlers in the town of Grand-Combe, near Avignon, struck. Shipowners at Rouen went into court demanding that striking crews of 30 ships be fined and imprisoned for failure to accept arbitration.

Emergency Session.

Premier Camille Chautemps ordered an emergency cabinet session to deal with the crisis.

The National Congress of the Communist Party, itself an element of the People's Front, today voted solid support for the public service strike, sharply delineating the attitudes of the People's Front parties.

The Communist action raised one of the gravest threats to the government coalition since it came to power in June, 1936. The Radical-Socialists had been disavowing strikes while the Socialists had been urging less agitation by labor.

With subways and buses paralyzed by a total shutdown and with water, gas and electric services running on reserves, squads of steel-hatted mobile guardsmen moved into the capital from the provinces to join the blue-capped gendarmes guarding vital centers.

Troops of "the military government of Paris," the army region surrounding the metropolis, were ordered to remain in readiness at their barracks.

Chautemps Determined

Gravely a government spokesman declared:

"Chautemps is determined to maintain order."

Distribution of water, gas and electricity remained normal at noon, thanks to reserve supplies and substitute workers, but officials said the population might be requested to reduce consumption tonight if the strike persisted.

Unemptied garbage pails lined the capital's unwept streets.

Treasury Receipts

Washington, Dec. 29 (AP).—The position of the treasury on December 27: receipts, $38,656,861.82; expenditures, $38,196,035.71; balance, $2,932,602,021.21; customs receipts for the month, $25,870,056.10. Receipts for the fiscal year (since July 1), $2,135,388,798.22; expenditures, $2,751,041,169.84, including $1,006,602,790.17 of emergency expenditures; excess of expenditures, $615,652,371.62; gross debt, $37,273,084,305.42, an increase of $504,255.04 above the previous day; gold assets, $12,759,968,620.72, including $1,227,683,329.10 of inactive gold.

Bank Robber Caught.

Warsaw, Dec. 29 (AP).—Polish police today arrested a Polish identified as Szymcha Mayer Elchenbaum, wanted by American, Belgian and French authorities on a series of charges, including kidnapping and murder. Elchenbaum, they said, confessed he was a member of a Chicago gang and took part in a holdup of a bank in which the teller was killed.

Concern Over Future.

Shanghai, Dec. 29 (AP).—There was growing apprehension in Shanghai today over the future of American and other foreign firms in China and the nation's ability to pay her debt of $500,000,000 to the United States and other powers. Increased daily landing of mercantile cargoes from Japanese vessels without customs examinations or duty payments caused the concern.

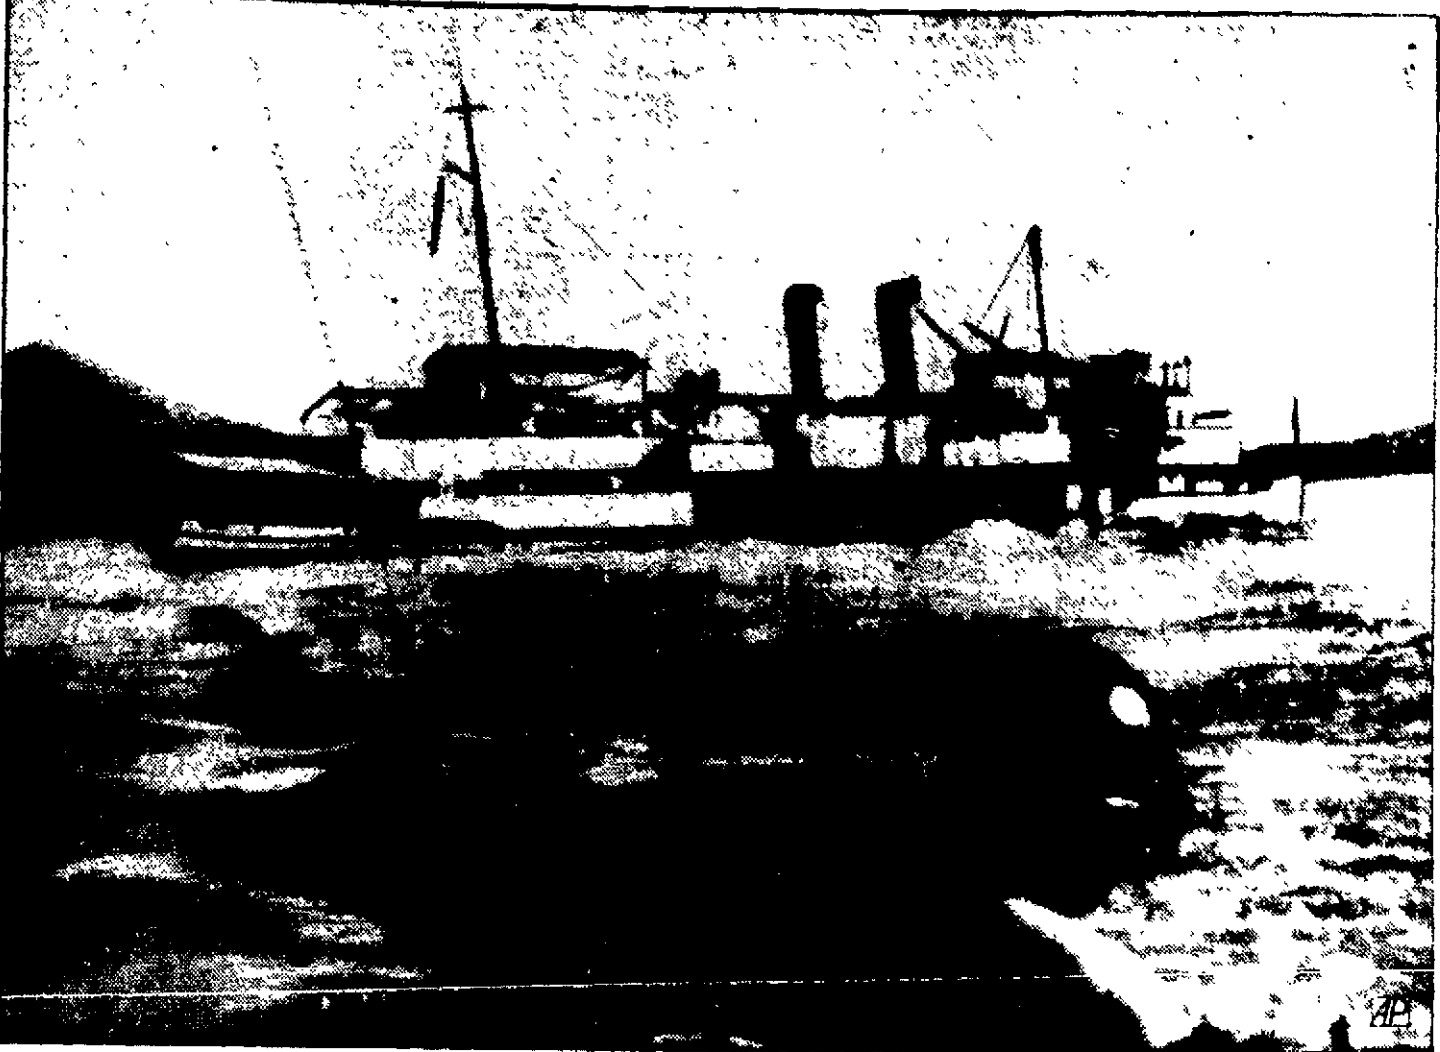

No Extra Pay.

Albany, N. Y., Dec. 29 (AP).—Employees of New York state hospitals are not entitled to extra pay for working nights, in the absence of a legislative appropriation for that purpose, State Supreme Court Justice Francis Bergan has decided.

Tramp Steamer Sought.

Hongkong, Dec. 29 (AP).—Local agents for the tramp steamer Hai De, asked officials today to inquire as to the safety of the vessel, three weeks overdue from Seattle with a cargo of sulphur for China.

Gunboat Panay, Bombed By Japanese, Goes To Bottom

In this photo, made from a small boat on the Yangtze, the U. S. S. Panay's decks are awash following a two-hour bombardment by Japanese war planes. The picture was snapped as the American gunboat, hit 24 times by Nipponese bombs, slowly settled to the bottom of the river.

Dixon Takes Own Life Asking God For Forgiveness

Writing with lead pencil on a brown paper bag, "To whom it may concern, I beg God's forgiveness" and signing it with his name, Ellsworth Dixon, 32, placed the paper bag on the bureau near his bed in his room in the DeMott rooming house, 179 Wall street, and, undressing, used his underclothes to stuff the cracks of the bedroom door. Then he turned on the three burners of a gas plate and went to bed.

He was discovered dead shortly before 3 o'clock Tuesday afternoon by Gilbert Van Vlack, an employee of the Central Hudson Gas & Electric Corporation, who had gone to the house to investigate the report of a gas leak.

Coroner Lester D. DuBois of New Paltz, who was called, gave as his verdict "suicide by illuminating gas" and took charge of the body. Dixon is survived by a brother, Martin Dixon, of 128 Washington avenue, and a sister, Mrs. Leona Gorseline, of 138 Clinton avenue.

Finding of the body was reported to police headquarters and Sergeant Ray Van Buren was assigned to the case. He went to the rooming house and questioned those who knew about the case. He learned that Alex Charchian, who has a room over the room occupied by Dixon, had arisen about 3 o'clock Tuesday morning to investigate the odor of gas in his room. Charchian could not find the source of the gas and returned to his room.

Mr. Van Vlack, when he entered the house that afternoon went to Dixon's room where the odor of gas was strongest and saw that the cracks of the door appeared to be stuffed. He kicked open the door and was greeted with an intense odor of gas. He found that Dixon had used his underclothing to stuff the cracks around the door and had then turned on the gas plate.

Dr. John Krom was called and found that Dixon was beyond medical aid. According to Coroner DuBois the man had been dead for several hours, and it is likely that he had turned on the gas some time Monday night.

Safety Council Says Deaths to Be 40,000

Chicago, Dec. 29 (AP).—The National Safety Council predicted today traffic deaths in the nation during 1937 would approximate 40,000, an all-time high.

Ever mounting, the traffic toll was 27,800 in 1936, and 37,000 in 1935, the council said.

During the first 11 months of 1937 traffic deaths numbered 35,610, a six per cent increase over the toll in the corresponding period of 1936.

On a mileage basis, the council reported, there has been "no actual increase in the traffic death rate." Gasoline consumption, the means of estimating mileage, increased six per cent, approximately the same as traffic deaths for the 11-month period.

Japan Announces Right "In Principle" to Extend Provisions of Military Law into Shanghai's Large International Settlements

By The Associated Press

Shanghai, Dec. 29.—Chinese, apparently preparing to abandon the threatened Shantung Port of Tsingtao, tonight began a campaign of destruction, blowing up all telegraph, cable and radio terminals.

This is the policy the Chinese military has followed in other cities when Japanese occupation seemed imminent.

The explosions, which shook the entire city, cut off all communications and resulted in the greatest tension among the populace, including 150 Americans who had not yet evacuated.

Meanwhile, Japan's conquering army claimed "in principle" today the right to extend provisions of its military law into Shanghai's international settlement and French concession, where thousands of Americans and other foreigners make their homes.

The Japanese army spokesman announced the claim, under which troops could enter foreign areas still outside Japanese control and arrest and try "all persons" suspected of crimes against Nippon's armed forces.

Japanese forces would proceed cautiously in any cases where Americans and other foreigners holding treaty rights to be tried by courts of their own nations were suspected, the spokesman said.

He stated that the basis of the Japanese claim was "de facto" military occupation and specified it would be enforced in occupied territory. When asked whether Japanese claimed occupation of the international areas, he refrained from answering.

Japanese freight cargoes, meanwhile, were being landed in increasing amounts without payment of duties or customs examination.

This caused growing apprehension on the future of American and other firms competing with Japanese and on the future ability of China to pay debts of some $800,000,000 including external debt of $180,000,000 to United States and other countries. The debts are guaranteed by customs receipts.

The new Japanese military law claim brought into prominence again the question of extraterritorial rights—which under current treaty stipulations make all foreigners except Russians and Germans subject only to laws of their own countries.

It came two days after the Japanese army put Americans and other foreigners in China's conquered areas under military law which, among other things, provided death for acts against Japan's armed forces.

British Refuse Version
Tokyo, Dec. 29 (AP).—The British embassy today informed the Japanese foreign office that it could not accept the Japanese military version of attacks on the British gunboats Ladybird and Bee. The military section of Imperial headquarters yesterday had issued a statement explaining that the attacks were a "mistake" and expressing regrets. Text of the Japanese reply to Britain's protest on the attacks was not made public.

First Snow Train Will Run Here On Friday Night

The Catskill mountain area will have the season's first winter sports train or "snow train" this week-end when the New York Central Railroad will run a special train over the Catskill Mountain Division from Weehawken on Friday night.

This train will be run regardless of snow conditions or weather and will be in the nature of a special New Years outing and inspection trip. Should the snow remain sufficient for skiing many will take advantage of that opportunity, but should there be little snow the trip will afford an opportunity for the ski enthusiasts to inspect the new trails and slopes in the Catskill mountain areas and at the same time afford a New Year's outing in the mountains.

Already numerous reservations have been made for the week-end. At Poughkeepsie on Tuesday it was reported that 250 reservations had been made for the week-end. Woodstock also has a number of reservations and at Pine Hill and Fleischmanns, boarding house keepers and hotel men were looking for a busy week-end.

The train will run to Kingston and then up the Mountain Division, making stops at West Hurley where passengers for Woodstock sports area will be transferred by bus and continuing up the line the train will stop at Poughkeepsie and then continue to Fleischmanns.

The running of subsequent "snow trains" will be guided by the amount of snow each week-end.

Short Tenure Predicted.
Bucharest, Dec. 29 (AP).—Sources close to King Carol predicted today that Rumania's new premier, Anti-Semite Octavian Goga, and his nationalist cabinet, formed to end a government crisis, would not function long. Palace informants said the principal task of the pro-German Goga's coalition government would be to arrange elections in April for a new parliament to replace the one elected last week.

Public Hearing On City Budget Thursday Night

Mayor C. J. Heiselman will hold a public hearing at the city hall on Thursday evening at 7:30 o'clock on the tentative city budget for 1938. The tentative budget fixes the tax rate for 1938 at $38.92 per thousand valuation. The tentative budget fixes the total cost of operating the city government at $1,228,328.96, and from that amount is deducted the estimated revenue, in addition to taxes on real estate, amounting to $332,962.00, leaving a balance of $895,366.96 to be raised in the next general tax levy.

The tax dollar rate based on the total budget, before deducting estimated revenues, follows:

General government . . . $18.29
Relief and debt service . . . 31.79
City share of state and county tax . . . 7.12

Total tax rate . . . $38.92

100 Persons Killed.

Lima, Peru, Dec. 29 (AP).—About 100 persons were killed or injured in an earthquake in central Peru on Christmas eve, said delayed dispatches to the newspaper El Comercio today.

The quake rocked Huancabamba, a small Andean township in Junco department, and Oxapampa, a small town in the jungle.

Nation's News in Brief

3 Persons Drown.
Toledo, O., Dec. 29 (AP).—Three persons were drowned today when a plane plunged into Lake Erie a half mile off Put-in-Bay. They were Nancy Howard, 42; Delbert Watkins, 30, and Albert Anderson, 45, all of North Bass Island. William Somogy, 30, pilot, was saved.

More Rain in West.

Seattle, Dec. 29 (AP).—More rain was forecast today for the Pacific northwest, already flooded by a three-day storm which caused three train wrecks and disrupted travel and communication. A fireman was still missing from a Great Northern train wrecked yesterday near Monroe, Wash. A trainman was killed when a Canadian National Railway engine and tender crashed through a bridge undermined by high water north of Victoria, B. C.

Filipino Kills 3.

Oakland, Calif., Dec. 29 (AP).—Bonifacio Aranda, 28-year-old Filipino dishwasher, killed three countrymen and wounded 10 others in a shooting and stabbing frenzy after his wife left him. He was held under observation in Alameda County Hospital today.

Mrs. Roosevelt Delayed.
Farzo, N. D., Dec. 29 (AP).—Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt, en route to Washington after a visit at Seattle, was delayed again today when her plane was held to the ground because of a low ceiling at Minneapolis.

3 Japanese Suicides.
Stockton, Calif., Dec. 29 (AP).—Police disclosed today that three former Japanese soldiers held a reunion here to end their lives. The bodies of Tamakichi Shino, 50; Ida Tomoto, 35, and Ichiro Morita, 53, were found in a carbon-monoxide filled room. No motive was learned.

Future Silver Purchases.
Washington, Dec. 29 (AP).—The administration's future silver purchasing program will be based on separate negotiations with foreign countries, it was indicated today on the basis of a temporary agreement.

Plan Ulster Apple Bud Festival in Maytime, 100,000 Are Expected

Citizens Choose Roger H. Loughran Head of 1st Blossom Fete Preparations

Bud Chieftain

ROGER H. LOUGHRAN

Ulster county's first apple blossom festival will be held on Friday, Saturday and Sunday, May 13, 14 and 15, of 1938. Those were the dates selected for holding the festival at a meeting of prominent citizens of Kingston and Ulster county who had been called together by Mayor C. J. Heiselman. The meeting was held at the city hall, and practically every one who had been invited to attend was present.

Roger H. Loughran was elected general chairman of the committee to have charge of the arrangements for the three-day festival, and the following general organization committee was named, headed by Mr. Loughran: Mrs. William A. Warren, Leslie Poring, Theodore Osholm, Raymond R. Gross, William C. Kingston, E. Frank Fluvent, Edward Huben, E. H. Remmert, Albert Kordt, Mayor Heiselman, Howard A. Lewis and Chester C. DuMont.

Mayor Heiselman in welcoming the gathering said that last Thursday, while he was at his home with a cold, Howard A. Lewis, Roger Loughran and Al Kordt had called to see him and urged him to call together a group of prominent residents of the city and county to discuss the question of staging an apple blossom festival here in May. As a result of that meeting the mayor said that he had sent out personal letters to all of those in attendance and he was glad that so many were interested in the idea of the festival as to be present.

"We have the finest apples in the world," said Mayor Heiselman, "and I am heartily in favor of an apple blossom festival and pledge you my full support as well as the wholehearted support of my administration."

The mayor said that the man who was full of ideas on the subject of an apple blossom festival and who had enticed him with the idea was Mr. Lewis and for that reason he was going to turn the meeting over to Mr. Lewis.

Mr. Lewis called attention to the vast sums of money left behind by the tourist traffic. In Canada this year it will run into millions while elsewhere the figures are equally high. He said that if 100,000 automobiles were attracted to Ulster county by the festival in May and figuring on each car leaving at least $10 spent in the county it would mean an expenditure of a million dollars. That was a conservative figure for it was estimated that a tourist who remained for at least 48 hours in any one place meant that he spent approximately $14.

Ulster county is an ideal spot for holding a festival. It has mountain scenery and river scenery and historical background. Every holiday week-end it attracts over 100,000 car owners to motor here, and the figure he set for the festival was a low one, Mr. Lewis said.

Mr. Lewis said he thought that the festival should take the form of a three-day affair starting on a Friday and closing on a Sunday. A committee should be appointed to map out the roads in Ulster county through the apple country.

County Superintendent James F. Loughran, who was present, in reply to a question by Mr. Lewis, said that there are over 200 miles of such roads that could be traveled to see the apple blossoms at their best.

Kingston, said Mr. Lewis, would be the focal point of the celebration, for in Kingston there is the auditorium and the armory which could be used for meetings. Mr. Lewis believed that entertainment should also be provided and said that a suggestion that could be considered was entertainment in Kingston, New Paltz and Woodstock.

The festival could be tied up with the World's Fair in New York city, said Mr. Lewis, and he is sure that the World's Fair officials would be glad to cooperate with Ulster county in making the festival a success.

"For instance," said Mr. Lewis, "we could call the opening day of the festival World's Fair Day, the second day would be Governor's Day, and the third day Church

Don Marquis Dies Today; Once Made Whole U.S. Laugh

New York, Dec. 29 (AP).—Don Marquis, 58, playwright, poet and former newspaper man, died at his home in suburban Forest Hills today after an illness of several years.

Marquis' health had been failing rapidly and for some months he had been cared for by his sister and a male nurse. Only a short time ago he suffered a severe stroke of paralysis, and his doctor then said death might occur at any time.

Friends from the literary and theatrical worlds were organizing a benefit to aid him financially which death intervened.

Created "Old Soak"

Creator of the beloved "Old Soak", "Archey the Cockroach", "Mehitabel the Alley Cat" and a host of other characters whose antics stirred nationwide laughter, Don Marquis belonged to the pioneer era of newspaper columnists made famous by Franklin P. Adams (F. P. A.), O. O. McIntyre, Mark Twain and Bert Leston Taylor of the Chicago Tribune's "Line-o-Type or Two." Baptized Robert Perry Marquis, he was born on July 29, 1878, at Walnut, Bureau county, Ill.

In recent years, he contributed to the editorial pages of newspapers and to smart magazines. He suffered a stroke in 1935 and was partly paralyzed for a while. To the end, his sense of humor never failed.

New Aircraft Tender.

Kobe, Japan, Dec. 29 (AP).—A new Japanese aircraft tender, the Soryu, with a displacement of 19,000 tons and a speed of 20 knots, was launched today.

Buffalo Gets Second Blow in Power Blaze

Buffalo, N. Y., Dec. 29 (AP).—Emerging from a nine-hour power failure this city today returned to normal movement after its second paralyzing blow in three weeks.

Engineers of the Niagara Hudson Power Corporation were investigating today causes of the disastrous fire yesterday at their River Road generating plant that cut off electric service to an estimated 100,000 users in Buffalo and its suburbs.

Just three weeks ago tonight a blizzard began in the same area and paralyzed transportation over western New York for four days.

Business places, hospitals and homes were crippled yesterday's power shutdown that lasted from 9:22 a. m. until 6:27 p. m., E. S. T., before service was completely restored.

Surgical operations were delayed in a number of Buffalo hospitals and in others were performed under emergency lighting equipment.

Judge Declares, If Actual Expenses Exceed $32,000 the Payment of Such Excess Costs May Be Restrained.

NO PROOF NOW

Opinion Holds No Evidence Sum Will Exceed Amount of Bond Issue.

Justice Francis Bergan presiding in Supreme Court, Albany County Special Term, has handed down a decision denying without costs the motion for a temporary injunction in the Woodstock town hall matter. Martin F. Comeau, attorney for the town of Woodstock, and Harry H. Flemming of counsel, appeared for the town board and Thomas J. Plunkett represented the petitioners.

The action is being brought against the town board by taxpayers, representing the Citizens' League of Woodstock, who allege that the proposed building will exceed the sum of $32,000 which the town board voted for the proposition and for which bonds were to be sold. Not only do the petitioners claim that the cost of the building will exceed the amount of $32,000 which has been voted but that there is a technical error in the proposition thus far. It is alleged that the proposition of a bond issue was never legally before the voters of the town, the proposition submitted to the voters being simply whether the town should spend $32,000 for a building.

Justice Bergan's opinion follows:

BERGAN, J.: The defendant Town of Woodstock is a town of the second class. On the 11th day of May, 1937, at a special town election, the voters entitled to participate therein adopted a proposition in pursuance of Town Law, Section 220, Subdivision 3, for the erection of a building to be used as a town hall, fire apparatus room and firemen's meeting room. The proposition so submitted and adopted specified that the sum to be expended should be "not greater than $32,000." The expense of the improvement, either by the award of any contract or the issuance of any obligation, shall not be in excess of the amount so specified (Town Law, Section 223).

The expense of the special election are not to be regarded as an expense of the improvement any more than the expense of the legislative function of the town board in authorizing the improvement. In the same category, I think, falls the legal expenses of taking over the land which was received by the town as a gift, since the proposition submitted clearly indicated that the land had been given to the town and indicated that the land was not involved in the cost of the project, but that the expenditure was to be devoted entirely to the erection of the building. The burden is on the plaintiffs to show that the sum of $32,000 recommended to be paid to Mr. Comeau was for services in connection with the building exclusive of the special election, and perhaps also exclusive of the legal formality of taking over the land. This has not been shown, although it must be conceded that Mr. Comeau in his answering affidavit referring to the item as a payment for "general work for the town board," does not give the items which should be allocated to the building or say that none of them should be so allocated.

The sum of $31,013.00 has been incurred in contracts for the building and an additional sum of 2 per cent, or $930.39, has been incurred for architect's fees. This is a total of $31,943.39. To this sum should be added $7.36 for advertising for bids and $6.48 for notices to bidders. The total cost of the project thus shown by the plaintiffs is $31,957.23. If the cost of issuance of bonds and the interest thereon are to be excluded from calculation, the expense of the project does not exceed the amount specified in the proposition adopted.

Section 223 provides that "interest on loans" are a part of the expense of the improvement. When this section is read in connection with Section 230, which, under the head of "temporary financing," makes reference to "temporary loans," and with Section 232, which, under the third alternative method of permanent financing, authorizes "temporary loans" to be succeeded by the subsequent issuance of bonds, I think it is clear that the Legislature intended a distinction between permanent financing by bond issues and temporary financing made during the course of construction of an improvement. When it is remembered that bonds authorized by the statute are treated as permanent financing and loans as a mere

Roosevelt Shows Concern, Voices Bigger Navy Need

Washington, Dec. 29 (AP)—President Roosevelt, announcing the projected construction of two new battleships and 16 lesser craft, left a distinct impression today his "growing concern" over international conditions might prompt him to ask Congress for even more naval armament.

"Facts are facts and the United States must recognize them," he said in a letter yesterday to Chairman Taylor (D-Colo.) of the House appropriations committee. Citing the failure of his own efforts to arrest the world armament race, the President added: "The fact is that in the world as a whole many nations are not only continuing but are enlarging their armament programs."

Mr. Roosevelt emphasized at a press conference, however, that the prospective increase in this country's fleet was not a part of a "preparedness program." Some observers interpreted his action as reflecting a desire to hasten the achievement of maximum naval strength which under present policy would not be attained until 1942.

The number of types of new vessels which may be recommended, the Chief Executive said, still are subjects of study. Naval officers said the fleet now is most deficient in auxiliary vessels and under-age destroyers. They also said battleships soon to reach over-age status should be replaced.

Will Conduct Hearing in City

Albany, N. Y., Dec. 29 (AP)—Fifty-two hunters involved in accidents that caused 27 deaths and injuries to 94 persons during the recent hunting season were summoned by the State Conservation Department today to appear for hearings starting January 4.

The department is empowered under a law passed by the 1937 legislature to revoke, after a hearing, the license of any person who injures or kills another while hunting. The license may be suspended for a period up to 10 years.

The second week's itinerary will include Kingston where six hearings are listed for January 10; New York City on January 11 where eight persons have been notified to appear, and the series will be concluded in Binghamton on Friday, January 14, with the hearing of five cases.

Wiltwyck Club Clears Spring Lake

Anticipating that there will be a great desire for skating over the holiday week-end on the part of its members and friends, the Wiltwyck Winter Sports Club is preparing Spring Lake for the blades sport.

Three men completed clearing the surface of the ice, removing the snow that fell yesterday, so that there will be plenty of room for the crowd of skaters expected to use the lake.

Homer Van Aken will be in charge of the rink, and the skating hut, where a bright fire will be kept burning for the comfort of those who want to rest.

Just as soon as more snow falls, the Wiltwyck Sports Club will sponsor other winter programs, including a carnival of sports.

FINANCIAL AND COMMERCIAL

New Lows for Year Were Set by 165 Issues Tuesday

New York, Dec. 29 (AP)—Called armament stocks rallied a little in the stock market today but selling pressure at times weakened best gains.

Near the final hour the rest of the picture was mixed with losses and advances, mostly in fractions, liberally distributed through the list.

Ahead most of the time, with profit realization on occasions sending it to the minus side, was U. S. Steel. Bethlehem was a strong point. Others to improve included Youngstown Sheet & Tube, Anaconda Copper, American Smelting, Westinghouse Electric, General Electric, International Harvester, Pennsylvania Railroad, Standard Oil of New Jersey, Boeing, Douglas Aircraft, North American and du Pont.

Sales were at the rate of about 2,300,000 shares.

Motors made a poor showing, with both Chrysler and General Motors touching new lows for the year. Also down were American Telephone, Dome Mines, Eastman Kodak, Union Pacific and Consolidated Edison.

Basic commodities were lower. Bonds rallied slightly after an early dip. Trans-Atlantic issues were improved in foreign markets but other shares tended down.

President Roosevelt's intimations at a press conference a bigger navy might be necessary projected stimulus for most of the buying that appeared. Brokers said selling came largely from investment rather than margin accounts.

As a result of clearing up high cost inventories and lower costs of raw materials, Proctor & Gamble have reduced the prices of several major brands of soap from 5 to 7 1/2 per cent. It is announced, also, that leading hosiery producers have cut prices from 15 cents a dozen on higher priced styles to 50 cents a dozen on cheaper items, have suggested a reduction in retail prices.

It is expected that final reports will show that retail sales for December in the entire Eastern district will average from two to five per cent below those of a year ago.

Magnavox Co., makers of radio parts, has filed petition for reorganization under Section 77 of the Bankruptcy Act.

Rail net for the first 11 months of the year is estimated at around $86,700,000 compared with $119,241,000 year ago. November net operating income is placed at around $34,000,000 compared with $72,410,571 year ago.

There was practically no construction of freight cars in railroads' own shops during November. Private builders continued fairly active deliveries, reducing their backlog of orders to 5,463 as of December 1.

Commerce Department's preliminary index of value of retail sales of new passenger autos was 85 in November, compared with 127 in October and 151 a year ago.

Roosevelt Plans Active Campaign Against Critics

Washington, Dec. 29 (AP)—Three developments gave fresh support today to the belief expressed by many officials that the Roosevelt administration would make an active campaign against its business critics:

Reports reached congressmen from high administration sources that the President at a recent cabinet meeting endorsed the principle of the Borah-O'Mahoney bill to license interstate corporations.

Senator Norris (Ind-Neb), a Roosevelt backer, suggested the Senate renew its investigation of lobbying in an effort to offset what he termed "organized propaganda" against the President's legislative proposals.

Secretary Ickes announced he would deliver a radio speech tomorrow night on "It is happening here." Associates predicted he would discuss relations between government and business.

The reports concerning Mr. Roosevelt's views on the corporation licensing bill encouraged its friends to believe it might become the chief vehicle for the administration's proposed attack on the monopoly problem.

In his last "fireside chat" Mr. Roosevelt declared there was need for tightening the anti-trust laws, but he has not outlined publicly any proposed legislation.

DeMolay Held Alumni Dinner

About 30 alumni of Colonial Chapter, Order of DeMolay, attended the association's annual dinner and meeting at the Hofbrau restaurant last evening.

After a delicious turkey dinner had been enjoyed, the business session was opened by Richard K. Bailey, retiring secretary and treasurer, who welcomed the members present with a few brief remarks. Nominations for new officers were called for, and the following received unanimous support of those present: Donald L. Russell, president; Ward B. Tongue, vice president; Fred P. Carpenter, secretary-treasurer.

W. Frank Davis, "Dad" of the local DeMolay group, gave an interesting report of activities in the local chapter, and urged alumni support of DeMolay as an aid in building up the active chapter in membership and influence.

Several members gave short reports of DeMolay functions they had attended during the year, and there being no further official business, meeting adjourned.

Cars Collide Near Accord Last Night

A car driven by James Plunket, on his way to Kingston to visit his brother, Attorney Thomas Plunket, crashed into the car of Mrs. Mary Atkins of Accord about 9:30 Tuesday night. The Atkins car is said to have slipped backward from a steep driveway and directly across the road, just as the Plunket car came along.

"Jim" said that the fog was so thick that he saw nothing of the car blocking his path until he was almost upon it and it was too late to avoid striking it. Both cars were damaged, but neither driver was injured, Mrs. Atkins having jumped out of her car before the collision.

The accident happened not far from the junction of Route 209 and the road to Allgerville.

About The Folks

Mrs. Janet Olds of Foxhall avenue had as her guests Christmas Mr. and Mrs. Edward Morris and daughter, Irene, and Mr. and Mrs. James Grimm, all of New Jersey.

State Game School
Albany, N. Y., Dec. 29 (AP)—New York state's game protectors are going to school to learn their business. A State Conservation Department announcement said the school would be held for one month, beginning February 1, at the abandoned Civilian Conservation Corps camp in suburban Delaware.

Arm Broken in Fall
Mrs. Carrie J. Short of 114 TenBroeck avenue, while walking on upper Broadway on Tuesday evening slipped and fell, sustaining a fractured right arm. She was removed to the Kingston Hospital where she is under treatment.

Dr. Dawkins to Speak at Service

Monday evening, January 3, a great union service will be held in St. James Methodist Episcopal Church, beginning the Week of Prayer. The service is sponsored by the Kingston Ministerial Association of which the Rev. Russell S. Gaenzle, pastor of the Lutheran Church of the Redeemer, is president. A number of the churches in the city and neighboring villages are co-operating in this service, at least 16 and possibly more churches being represented. The speaker is to be the Rev. Dr. George E. Dawkins of Newark, N. J. Dr. Dawkins is a preacher of outstanding ability and is pastor of one of the largest churches of any denomination in the state of New Jersey. He is expected to bring a stirring gospel message, and all are invited to come and hear this noted preacher. Arrangements are being made to have the choir of all the churches unite in one big choir under the direction of Robert Hawksley, choir director of St. James Church. All members of the different church choirs are requested to meet on Monday evening promptly at seven o'clock in the Sunday School room of the church for preliminary rehearsal just before the service.

This union service will open the Week of Prayer, and will be followed by simultaneous services during the week in many of the cooperating churches. These follow-up meetings will be conducted by the churches separately, each in its own house of worship and each in its own way. But the union service will precede and stimulate attendance at these other services, and the complete program has been planned to deepen the spiritual life of Christian people.

ST. REMY

St. Remy, Dec. 28—Sunday services January 2, Sunday school 1:30. Church service 2:30 p. m. The Rev. C. P. Muey-kens will bring the message. All are welcome to these services. Mr. and Mrs. W. Schermond and daughter Joan of Brooklyn were guests of Charles Krom and family. The Otto Ruge family of Kingston, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Relyea of Rifton and Mr. and Mrs. Wallace Terpening of New Salem were guests of the Ellsworth family Christmas Day. Mrs. Luella Kohler and Mrs. Robert Eby and son Loren of Kingston called on Mrs. Kathryn Sutton on Sunday. Mrs. Della Miller and Miss Florence Krom are visiting friends in New York city. S

STONE RIDGE

Stone Ridge, Dec. 28.—Mr. and Mrs. DeForest Bishop were dinner guests on Christmas of their daughter, Mrs. Roy E. Ransom, and family.

The teachers of the Stone Ridge school report on the school food sale, which was a success. Twelve dollars and fifteen cents was realized and spent as follows: Rent of Grange Hall for three rehearsals, $6; material for polssettias, $2.77; cotton for background, $1.76 and crepe paper, $1.15. The balance of 47 cents was added to the recreational fund.

The Grange Hall was filled on Thursday when the pupils of District No. 5 gave their Christmas entertainment. The hall was beautifully decorated and the opening scene, when the children sang Christmas carols, was exceptionally attractive. The white background was decorated with large polssettias. The children were all dressed in white. The dresses of the older ones were bordered with polssettias, and the smaller children formed semicircles, carrying wreaths and polssettias. The entire program was well rendered and much enjoyed. Much credit is given the teachers, Miss Mildred Roosa and Miss Alberta Davis, for their excellent training of the children and the beautiful decorations and costumes which they made with their helpers.

Miss Ethel Krom of Walden, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Krom of this place, on Christmas Day became the bride of Theron Coddington of Gardiner. Milton Elmendorf enjoyed Christmas dinner with his brother, Asa Elmendorf, and family.

The Rev. and Mrs. Frederick Baker, Miss Constance Baker and Fred Baker, Jr., motored to Calloon on Tuesday, where they were guests of several friends on their former charge.

Mrs. Charles De Bar Berle of New York spent Christmas with her family in this place and entertained her son and wife of New York.

Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Turner and niece, of Nyack, and Mrs. Essie Lyburt and A. Maxwell, of Kingston, were guests on Christmas of Mr. and Mrs. Ira Turner.

Herrick Schoonmaker was a dinner guest on Christmas at the home of Miss Maude Wilklow.

Mrs. Vina Crawford entertained Mrs. Olga Anderson, and son, Jack Anderson, of Hurley, on Friday evening. Miss Millie Beatty enjoyed afternoon tea with Miss Maude Wilklow on Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. George Weeks spent Christmas with Mr. Weeks' father, Ephraim Weeks, at Ashokan, and Mr. and Mrs. Fred Weeks.

Mrs. Emma Beatty and daughter, Miss Millie Beatty, entertained at a turkey dinner on Christmas night. Mr. and Mrs. Henry Gronomeyer and daughter, Gertrude, and Charles Loese, of Kingston, Mr. and Mrs. Yeaple of Allgerville, Mr. and Mrs. Alvin

Beatty of New Paltz and Jason Beatty. After dinner an enjoyable evening was spent playing cards. Mr. and Mrs. Le Roy Van Der Burgh attended a large family party at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Philip King at Garden City. Miss Betty Shea, of New York, was a week-end guest of her brother, Dr. Edward Shea and family. Mr. and Mrs. Oswald Jacobson entertained at dinner on Christmas, Mr. and Mrs. Guttorm Nilssen and Miss Carol Nilssen. Among the guests during the holiday season entertained at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Walden were Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Walden, of Staten Island, Mr. and

Mrs. James Young, of Tenafly, N. J., and Charles Walden, Jr., who recently returned from Chicago. Mr. and Mrs. Reigh Sahler, of Mt. Rest, accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Sahler and Miss Zella Sahler were dinner guests on Christmas of Mrs. Zella Lasher, of Bearville. Mr. and Mrs. Luther Hendricks, and mother, Mrs. Millie Hendricks, of Roselyn Heights, are spending the holiday vacation at their home in this place.

Ten Questions For The Uninsured Automobile Owner

1. What would you do if your car injured or killed a man?
2. Could you hire a lawyer to defend you for $50.00?
3. Are you personally able to meet a jury's verdict against you of $15,000?
4. Is it good business judgment to risk such a verdict when there's a simple, inexpensive way of avoiding it?
5. Can the millions of automobile owners who carry insurance all be wrong?
6. Is it impossible for a careful driver to have an accident?
7. Did you ever see a car skid?
8. Have you ever heard an onlooker at a busy corner say—"It's a wonder more people aren't killed"?
9. Is peace of mind worth anything to an automobile driver?
10. Is there a single, sound, common sense reason why Automobile Liability Insurance is not an economical investment for you?

KINGSTON, N. Y., DEC. 29, 1937

HEARING ON BUDGET.

Approximately 300 properties in the city of Kingston were sold this year for unpaid taxes, and the majority of the properties had to be taken over by the city, due to lack of bidding. These properties taken over by the city for tax delinquency were in addition to those sold in preceding years and still unredeemed. Besides the tax delinquency problem this year, the city is faced with properties on its hands, which it seized following expiration of the time for redemption.

When the city seizes properties for delinquent taxes, the burden on the other local properties becomes greater because the tax-seized real estate is removed from the assessment rolls. If from no other standpoint, this alone should move officials to see that as low a tax rate as possible is agreed upon. Any effort consistent with efficient administration of the city's business that is made to keep the tax rate down will be appreciated by the taxpayers.

A hearing on the proposed budget will be held Thursday evening at 7:30 o'clock at the city hall. As tentatively established the tax rate for 1938 will be $28.92, which is less than a dollar more than this year's rate.
 At this public hearing taxpayers will be given an opportunity to be heard and if any measure of economy is to be achieved, it will require the full cooperation of all interested.

In making up the budget it is well to bear in mind that there is but one businesslike way to conduct a municipality and that is to keep within the budget. The city is ending this year with departmental surpluses of $32,- 471.48 including the excess revenue received.

THE DANGEROUS WALKER

With the first heavy fall of snow here this season, pedestrians are reminded to exercise the utmost care. The person on foot must contribute his share to cause of safety, as well as the man behind the wheel. Many pedestrians believe they should be allowed to commit almost any traffic error. The sad results of that notion are found in the daily accident figures.

The National Safety Council reports that 55 per cent of all pedestrian deaths are due in some measure to the fault of the pedestrian. In these cases, the walker isn't the innocent victim he is usually pictured, but definitely contributes to his own doom. Five simple and practical things are suggested for the pedestrian to insure his safety on the streets:

First, obey traffic signals the same as good auto drivers do.
 Second, learn the laws and ordinances in effect in state and city to regulate traffic from the pedestrian's point of view—his rights and his duties.

Third, having done this, the pedestrian is in a position to demand a better acceptance of their obligations by drivers.

Fourth, take a greater interest in traffic problems and especially in the placement and operation of traffic signals.

Fifth, it will be found through these studies that major reductions in the number and severity accidents to pedestrians can be easily achieved.

YOUNG CHIANG.

The Chinese situation may not be so hopeless as it has looked since the fall of Nanking.

Young Lochnar has come out of the West, in the person of Gen. Chiang Kuo, son of the Chinese generalissimo. Long extricated from his father by his Communist principles, he has made himself a military power to the wild Mongol country, and is reported lately as rushing eastward with 100,000 crack troops to help expel the Japanese invaders.

It is no secret that those troops are equipped with Russian arms.
 They have also had Russian training, and doubtless have a liberal infusion, too, of Communist principles. But they are Chinese first of all. They want to keep Outer Mongolia a part of China, and have both their patriotic urge and their Communist prejudices to stiffen their drive against the invading Japanese.

This may be one phase of a general stepping-up of Russian assistance to China. The Russians have completed their second Trans-Siberian Railroad and are reported as building a great highway to China. They are massing more troops and war materials near the borders of Mongolia and Manchuria, and around Vladivostok, on the Pacific. If they should drive south while Young Chiang and his Mongolian allies drive east, the Japanese would be seriously crippled in their Chinese operations. The Japs have recently lost some ground in northern China, and are hesitating about their South China campaign, worried militarily by Russia and diplomatically by America.

MENTAL AND PHYSICAL HEALTH

When we read some years ago that about 40 per cent of the inmates of a New Jersey State Hospital were "cured" by having infections of teeth, tonsils, sinuses, gall bladder and intestine removed, we realized how much the body and its defects can affect the mind. There is therefore present in most of us the common-sense idea that if we want to be well, to feel bright and happy, we should take good care of our bodies.

However it is only fair to that body of yours that you remember that just as neglect, defect, excesses of the body and its organs can affect the mind, so can wrong or foolish thoughts, anxiety, useless worries, poor decision or lack of decision actually affect the body and its workings.
 That just as there is physical health to watch, so also must the mental health be watched.

What is meant by mental health?

"Mental health concerns itself with the emotions, the mind and the behavior of the individual.
 There are degrees of mental health just as there are degrees of physical health. The goal for which we aim in mental health are the maturity or control of our emotions, taking our rightful place in our own minds—just as good as anyone else, no better than others—and adjusting ourselves to other people."

I am quoting from the Medical Health Bulletin reprinted in Hygieia.

"One problem of mental health is indecision, the cause of which varies in accordance with early training."

"During adult life we have such problems as love, marriage, parenthood, illness, death, old age, unemployment, business reverses. The person who has good mental hygiene is able to meet these various problems with buoyancy and strength."

Encourage your children to play, to mix with others, to fight their own battles and make their own decisions. And we adults to attain mental health must look in on ourselves and see if we are making wise and prompt decisions, are seeing the other fellow's viewpoint, and have neither an inferiority nor a superiority complex.

 Nelda, a beautiful, courageous girl, almost loses hope when the lettuce crop on which her dreams depended, is ruined.
 Bill, another lettuce farmer, is in the same fix. Their mutual misery draws them together.
 Reck, wealthy playboy, takes Nelda out to forget her troubles.
 The car breaks down in a storm.
 Mrs. Reckless, Reck's cold and arrogant mother, dislikes Nelda.
 Jack, Nelda's younger brother, is studying to become a doctor.

Chapter 20

'I Can't Stand It'

NELDA shuddered at the thought of going into the musty old house, but there seemed nothing else to do.
 The house contained but one room. Fortunately there was a pile of old newspapers and magazines in one corner that they could burn.
 "Wonder if they'll send out a searching party for us?" Nelda asked drearily while Reck was making a fire.

"I should hope they will! Never was so hungry in my life. What I could do to a big juicy steak right now!"

"Shut up!"
 Shadows crept deeper and deeper into the room. The howling wind seemed to be releasing billows of darkness.

Minutes passed. Became hours.
 The last bit of wood, the last paper was in the stove. Huddled in two chairs, Nelda and Reck dozed fit-tfully.

The storm ceased sometime in the small hours of the morning.
 Dawn was just beginning to tear
 a hole in the darkness when Nelda thought she heard an automobile climbing up the grade. Were her ears playing tricks on her, she wondered. But there was no mistaking that steady chug-chug which sounded as if the motor was experiencing difficulty in making the climb.

"A car!" she screamed, leaping to her feet and upsetting her chair in the excitement. "A car, Reck!"

They were at the roadside before the machine appeared from around a bend.

Bill Langdon was at the wheel.
 His face had that disapproving look Nelda had noticed when she accepted Reck as a passenger at the service station.

To herself she said, "I suppose he thinks I'm cheap."

His brows scrunched in their accustomed way and he came to a stop beside them.

She managed to speak, but there was a faintly hysterical catch in her voice. "We—we had car trouble."

"Key broke off in the lock," Reck chimed in.

Bill's eyebrows went up.
 "That's a new stall, isn't it, Reckless?"

The remark was like touching off dynamite where Nelda was concerned. Her chin shot up and her dark eyes flashed.

"That's a rotten thing to say, Bill Langdon!" she cried. Then she added with brutal sarcasm, "But it's just like you!"

His mouth became a quiet line between his proud nose and his straight, firm chin.

"Get in," he said, a ring of authority in his voice. "The whole country is searching for you. He reached back and opened the door of the tonneau.

"Nice of you to find us," she said almost too sweetly.

He ignored that and motioned for her to get into the car. She found herself meekly obeying.

To Reck he said, "Too many turns in these mountains to tow you down."

"I'll have someone come for my car," Reck answered and climbed in beside Nelda.

Stage Stuff

AT THE old adobe house it remained for her sister-in-law to put the finishing touches to Nelda's unhappy experience.

"Is he going to marry you?" she flung at Nelda.

"That's stage stuff," the girl answered.

"Stage stuff! When you've disposed of him in the eyes of the community! If he doesn't marry you—"

Nelda fled to her room.
 "Leila left in a huff," Laura informed Nelda at lunch.

"She had nothing to get huffy
 over," Nelda returned.

"Said she's going to give that fella
 a piece of her mind for keepin' you out all night," Laura went on glibly.

Nelda half rose.
 "You don't think she'll go to Mrs. Reckless?"

"Never can," said about Leila, Uncle Sam put in.

"But she mustn't!" Nelda said anxiously. "Why, Mrs. Reckless doesn't like me."

Christmas at Comforter

A large congregation assembled at the Reformed Church of the Comforter Sunday evening to witness the presentation of the annual Christmas pageant sponsored by the Christian Endeavor Society.
 Under the name of "Three Great Joys," a cast of almost 25 characters moved across the choir loft of the church in a portrayal of the birth of Christ and the homage paid to Him by the people of that time. The pageant was under the direction of Douglas Kennedy, assisted by Miss Zella Follette and Miss Beatrice Powley.

Stage settings were in charge of Howard Allison supervised the costumes. Next Sunday the regular prayer meetings, beginning at 7:15 o'clock, will be resumed, and anyone interested in religious discussion topics is invited to attend these meetings.

Ponchockie Activities

In spite of the bad weather, 20
 young people of the Ponchockie group gathered Christmas Eve to sing carols to the sick and shut-ins of the Ponchockie section of the city. The singing was led by Oliver Shultis, a student of the Westminster Choir School. Sunday evening was the occasion of the annual Christmas meeting with Miss Beverly Williams talking on the topic, "The Purpose of Christmas." The monthly business meeting was held Tuesday, and tonight the society will be the guest of the Bethany Chapel group at a Christmas party. Members are requested to meet at the church at 7:15 o'clock.

Wurts Street Baptist

The members of the Wurts Street Baptist society decorated the chapel for the Christmas service. Sunday evening's meeting will be held at the usual time with Miss Eleanor Bundy as the leader.

TWENTY AND TEN YEARS AGO

Dec. 29, 1917.—Captain Frank Keator, Medical Reserve Corps,
 one of the best known physicians in Ulster county, died at his home on St. James street of pneumonia.

Henry D. Eltinge filed his resignation as superintendent of the city's fire alarm system to take effect the first of the year.

Thermometers registered 12 degrees below zero here. Owing to the extreme cold work men on local boatyards quit work for the day. The Skillypot made its last trip, and many people walked across the Rondout creek on the ice.

County Dates.

Two activities for county Endeavorers are scheduled in the plans to increase sociability and strengthen the county union. On January 30, a union church service will be held in the Reformed Church of the Comforter, Kingston, and on February 4, the annual banquet will take place at the Albany Avenue Baptist Church. All member societies as well as other young people are invited to join with the Endeavorers in making these events a success.

Joining the Union.

Any young people's organization that will subscribe to the principles of the Christian Endeavor movement and would like to enter the Ulster County Christian Endeavor Union, are asked to communicate with Miss Frances K. Roosa, New Paltz.

Flatbush Studies.

A new course directed towards the better understanding of the Bible will be inaugurated at the Sunday evening meeting of the Flatbush group. The Rev. S.

Ramblin' Notes

About the Town

While a group of prominent citizens from the city and county were discussing plans for holding a three-day apple blossom festival in Ulster county in May of next year, the city was in the grip of the first real snow storm of the winter. The meeting was held with Mayor Heiselman in the city hall, and plans were discussed for making the festival an event that would draw thousands of visitors to Kingston and Ulster county.

The news that the Rev. Dr.
 James A. Leach was leaving Watertown for a church in Kansas was interesting news to the many friends of the popular pastor, who served Trinity M. E.
 Church for three years. Dr. Leach was not only an excellent preacher but he was the possessor of a beautiful singing voice and those who heard his many solos while serving the local church will not soon forget him. He was also in great demand as an orator and was very active in Masonic circles, speaking frequently at gatherings of local Masons in Kingston.

Many of the Protestant churches in Kingston are planning to observe the annual Week of Prayer
 during the first week in January.
 The Kingston Ministerial Association is planning to have a union service held in St. James M. E.
 Church to be addressed by one of the leading ministers of the state of New Jersey. Many of the churches are planning special services for the Week of Prayer, and some of the churches are planning to hold a series of cottage prayer meetings in various sections of the city.

Kingston youngsters were given a new thrill this week when the newly constructed sled run was opened for coasting in one of the city's newest parks—Lawton Park off the Boulevard. The sled run is over half a mile long, and was built especially for coasting.

There was some agitation for constructing a toboggan slide in Hasbrouck Park, but when the ground was looked over it was found that it was not practical to construct it in that park. While none of the younger generation remember it, yet there are many still living in the city who recall the old toboggan slide on Andrew street which afforded pleasure to a younger generation of other years.

All trace of that toboggan has long since disappeared and Andrew street is practically all built up with modern houses.

The Board of Public Works is building a skating rink in Hasbrouck Park to afford skating for the children and adults of the city. It is planned to have the rink ready for use as quickly as possible.

Dec. 29, 1937.—The W. W.
 Kingston Company planned to start the work of restoring the city hall, damaged by fire in June, and planned to have building ready by October of 1938.

John Remus, a former alderman of the Ninth ward, died in the Kingston Hospital.

The Supervisors' Association of Ulster County held annual banquet at the Hotel Staygreen.

Fred DeGarmo's electrical shop on Willycutt avenue badly damaged by fire of unknown origin.

Mrs. George Sickler of Ash-ka died.

Man About

Manhattan

By GEORGE TUCKER

NEW YORK—Everybody sees everybody in this town, but the record of a working day for any columnist is made up of the people he actually talks to and those he only sees. Then, of course, there is a glance through the newspapers to see if any late arrivals have been omitted, and a check of the sailing lists. But a ways—it's people!

Today was an average day and it went like this. I was standing in front of Lindy's with Nat Dorfman and he said, "Hello, Mr. Young."
 Then, turning, he explained:
 "That was Roland Young. He's on his way to the Ethel Barrymore theater for a rehearsal. They're rehearsing in the lobby. . . . Why don't you go along and write a story, about it?"

THAT was at 2 p. m. Between 2 and dinner time I had occasion to talk with Dick Maney, a very gallant Irishman; Peter Swaur, who is illustrating the walls of his apartment with scenes from "Anthony Adverse"; and Willard
 Kean, who hails from Morton, Minn., and who has done a lot of writing for the films, the theater, and for radio. The object of these conversations were: to tell Maney a size 17 shirt was still in my place where he had left it (still there because I can't wear a 17 shirt);
 to borrow a book by Liam O'Flaherty from Swaur, and to get Keele's opinion on a five-year-old nag that is going to the post
 next Thursday afternoon.

After dinner I saw, but did not speak to, (1) Clair Luce, the actress, who was hurrying to the Music Box where she is appearing in
 "Of Mice and Men"; (2) Sen.
 Carter Glass, who was climbing out of a cab near Pennsylvania station; (3) Robert Prescott, the Buckeye who became famous as a sound man for radio (when you hear ice breaking it is really only Prescott crunching a phonograph record); (4) Ford Frick, a former newspaperman who is now president of the National League; and
 (5) Santa Claus, who was winding his way somewhat disconsolately through Times Square.

ONE, naturally, makes notes of all these people on an oblong sheet of paper that is folded into accordion pleats so that it fits nicely in the inside breast pocket.
 Then, when you get back to the office, you remember that Miss Luce was wearing an enormous mink coat, that Senator Glass seemed a little weary, that Robert Prescott is only 27 years old; that Ford Frick used to be a sports commentator, and that Santa Claus had taken off his whiskers and was carrying them in his hand.

Grange Lecturer Gets Certificate

Highland, Dec. 28.—Highland Grange was honored Tuesday night at the regular meeting when it was announced that the lecturer, Mrs. Gladys Meigs, was one out of five to receive a gold certificate from the State Grange. Brother Earl Kisor extended thanks to the one who had helped about the hall and to those who had cut and drew the wood donated by Brother Thumner. The following committees were appointed by the master, Howard Muckey: Chairman of the Service and Hospitality committee, Sister Mary Bell; finance committee, Brother Granville Kisor, Sisters Elliott and Mackey; legislation, Brother Earl Kisor; taxation, Brother Hudson Covert; flag-bearer, Brother Eli Merritt; pianist, Sister Gruner.

Sister Dowd was reported sick at the Benedictine Hospital in Kingston, also a son was reported born to Mr. and Mrs. John J. Gaffney.

Members of the Juvenile Grange took part in the program which opened by all singing, "It Came Upon a Midnight Clear," recitation, Jackie Auchmoody; prayer by Sister Covert, the chaplain; welcome, Majorie Shaw.

A three-act play, "Assisting Santa Claus," with the characters: Charles, Olof Sandlieben; Irma, Helen Scott; Alice, Anna May Elliott; Vera, Royona Benson; Mr. Watson, Abram Deyo; Mrs. Watson, Charlotte Shaw. After the first act Florence Auchmoody gave a tap dance, and between the second and third acts the song, "I Want You For Christmas," was sung by Anna May Elliott, Royona Benson, Helen Lits, Charlotte Shaw, Kathryn Lits. Recitation, "If I Were a Toy," Chauncey Elliott. A play, "Peace On Earth," with Mr. Lennon, Albert Shaw; Mrs. Lennon, Mrs. Alvin Stiller; Ray, their son, George Bragg; Christmas singers, Juvenile Grange; recitation, "Last Christmas Wishes," Harry Stiller.

Santa Claus was present and distributed gifts to all from the tree. Abram Deyo, master of the Juvenile Grange presented the Subordinate Grange with $20 and also gifts to Mrs. Alvin Stiller and Albert Shaw. A friend of the Subordinate Grange had Dixie cups and candy for the members of the Juvenile Grange. There were 52 persons present and a howl lunch was served.

Many members of the cast of "Lyric Time" were guests of the Grange and dancing to the music of a three-piece orchestra completed the evening.

AND TALKS ON MATTERS MASCULINE

Here is the way your tailcoat ought to look. Moderately wide lapels—and be sure no white waistcoat shows below the fronts

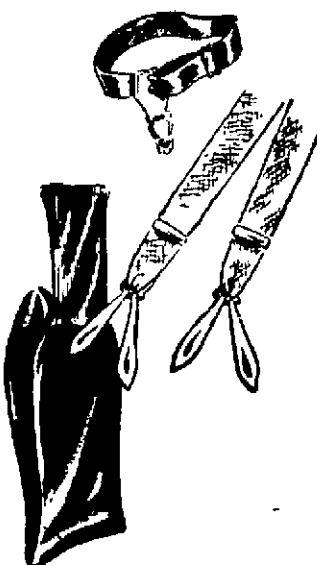

Even the most confirmed stay-at-home break down and break out in evening clothes for New Year's Eve, so we are assuming that you are planning to slide into a tailed shirt and see the Old Year out in the traditional manner. Here are a few tips so the New Year won't catch you improperly turned out when it arrives at 12:01 Friday (or Saturday to be more exact).

Either a single or double breasted waistcoat is suitable with a tailcoat. Very new and very smart is the waistcoat, shirt, tie and collar—all of the same smooth handkerchief linen. It's plain and simple and it's straight from London.

Better get a strong new pair of garters so you won't be embarrassed by sagging socks on the big night. The socks, incidentally, should be plain black silk or lisle as illustrated above.

(Clocks are permissible with a dinner jacket.) A pair of evening braces of white webbing won't be pushed off your shoulders by the shirt bosom.

Esquire's etiquery

There is so much money wasted on improperly engraved cards that it might be a good idea to specify just what's what in this department. A man's card is from 2 1/2 inches to 3 1/2 inches cards until after he enters college.

Business cards carry no "Mr." They generally have the first name and the middle initial or initials as "John P. Smith." The company represented has its name and address in small letters in the lower left hand corner, and sometimes the position of the man is included, as for example, "Treasurer, John Robinson and Company, 10 State Street, Chicago."

When leaving town it is occasionally the custom to long and 1 1/2 to 1 3/4 high. (A woman's card is bigger). The type of engraving most generally used in this country is shaded Roman, though script is always good, form and in England it's the only acceptable type. Various other types of letterings appear from time to time, but have a short life and are not recommended. All ornate or decorative lettering such as Old English and Gothic should be avoided.

A man's social card should carry his full name with "Mr." before it, such as "Mr. John Peters Brown." If you live in the city, you may have your street address in the lower right hand corner, such as, "629 Lexington write in the lower left hand corner of the social card "P. P. C." (Four preclude congo—to take leave). This merely means that you're going away and saves your friends the trouble of trying to get in touch with you while you're out of town.

One highly conventional custom is for men to turn down the corner of their cards when calling on a family and finding them out. This is meant to signify either that the card is for all the ladies of the household, or that the card was delivered in person and not sent round by the chauffeur. There are two schools of thought on this, and a lot of people when

Avenue, engraved in very small letters. It is not necessary to have the name of the city engraved. Single men sometimes use their club address. In this case, no other address is given. Married men do not use a club address. In England men have their club address in one lower corner and their country address in the other. In America country addresses are rarely seen on cards. A boy never puts "Mr." on his

On New Year's Day the Kingston Y. M. C. A. will celebrate another Open House with outstanding features and events in the two gymnasiums under the direction of Physical Director Charles Henke and his new Boys Leaders.

At the same time that the events are taking place in the first floor gym the Kingston Y. M. C. A. Badminton club will be playing guests from Catskill, with President H. L. Winters directing the matches.

The program will start at 3:30 p. m. in the main gym with an apparatus and drill exhibition by the boys in the Student C under the leadership of Boys Leaders George Anderson and Harry Flowers. Next will be the obstacle relay race by the Schenck Boys Club directed by Leaders Anthony Berinato and Vincent Norton.

At 3:50 an exhibition of tumbling will be given by the Barnum Boys Club with Walter Gemmell and Ralph Miller directing. A special apparatus exhibition will be directed by Leaders Frank Dobie and Donald Van Deusen with the boys of the Hasbrouck Club as the performers. Although the football season is about over the Rotary Boys Club will show the folks of Kingston under the leadership of Walter Gemmell and Ralph Miller the newest of pigskin games, touch football.

Hockey will be played in the gym at 4:20 between picked teams of the Student B Class under the coaching of Leaders William Grothkopp and Joseph Palis.

The concluding event of the boys program will be a basketball game by the newly formed Boys Y. M. C. A. leaders.

From 4 to 6 p. m. in the new gym the Badminton clubs will demonstrate this new game.

The annual business men's volleyball match will begin at 5 p. m. in the old gym. As a fitting climax to the day, the Ladies Auxiliary of the Kingston Y. M. C. A. will serve refreshments in the south lobby of the Y. M. C. A. with Mrs. George DuBois, president in charge.

The Y. M. C. A. staff, General Secretary, Robert L. Sisson, physical director, Charles Henke, and Boys' Secretary, Ellis T. Bookwalter, will be on hand during the afternoon to conduct those interested about the building to see the many improvements that have been made.

Famous Chefs And Their Dishes

Czar's Ex-Chef Cooks For Innkeeper Astor

This is one of a series of articles in which famous chefs reveal the secrets and menus which have given their cookery world-wide renown.

(By The Feature Service)

From member of the Czar's kitchen staff to chef for the Astors has been the culinary journey of Spiridon Ignatovich.

The genial Russian cooking expert has made pirozhki, shchi and syrniki for blue-bloods on two continents.

He began his career in Crimea on the Black Sea, where he worked in the Hotel Russia at Yalta.

Yalta and Livadia were winter headquarters for the Czar. Livadia was the 20,000-acre estate where the Czar and his family lived. Yalta contained hotels occupied by court officials.

Later, Ignatovich went to Livadia to become first a member of the kitchen staff and finally head chef—subject only to Cuba, the Czar's chief chef.

Fourteen years ago Ignatovich came to this country. For the last three years he's been chef for the Malsonette Russe at Vincent Astor's St. Regis hotel in New York.

Being chef to the Czar wasn't a simple three-meal-a-day job, Ignatovich says.

There were three sittings for each meal. The first for 100 or more court officials. The second for another group of about 50 court officials. And the third for the royal family and a limited number of guests.

First the head chef prepared the menu and submitted it to Cuba. The latter looked it over and gave it to the court official in charge of food.

The regular family dinner was, literally, a royal feast. It consisted of seven courses and went something like this:

1. Caviar—black and fresh. The Czar didn't like caviar but it was generally served. Vodka went with it.

2. Soup—generally shchi—a soup with cabbage and other vegetables in it. It was served with little pirozhki (meat stuffed biscuits) and Marsala wine.

3. Fish—often cold, boiled sturgeon with horseradish sauce. Usually accompanied by Rhine wine. (Sometimes the fish was served hot—with tomato sauce.)

4. Game—partridge, wild ducks, woodcocks. If there was no game, special milk—fed lamb was often substituted. Red or Burgundy wine accompanied the game, while Bordeaux wine or champagne was served with the lamb. Vegetables included asparagus, spinach, string beans.

Spiridon Ignatovich

5. Salad—sometimes served with the game. Usually made of mixed greens topped by French dressing.

6. Dessert. Syrniki—pot cheese cakes with sour cream; kasha gourieff—tarina and special fruits topped with burning brandy.

7. Coffee and cordials—Fresh fruit was also served during coffee.

The court meals were much influenced by French cooking thanks to Catherine the Great's love of French food.

Pirozhki

1/2 pound of flour.
1/2 glass of milk.
1/4 pound of butter.
Granulated sugar.

Two eggs.
One cake of yeast.
Mix the above together, using very little sugar. Then set the mixture aside to raise.

Make a filling of half a pound of chopped meat, seasoned with salt and pepper and slightly fried. Roll the raised dough to an eighth of an inch thickness. Cut into small round pieces. In the center of each piece of dough place a small amount of the meat. Fold the dough over, shaping it into a small ball. Bake in the oven until slightly brown.

Stamps IN THE NEWS

By James B. Hatcher

The 150th anniversary of the first colonists' arrival in New South Wales falls in January. Australia is commemorating the event with three stamps, which appeared October 2.

The story goes back to May, 1787, when Capt. Arthur Phillip set sail from Plymouth in the Sirius with a fleet of 10 ships, carrying more than a thousand people, including 756 convicts.

There were six transports, three store ships and an armed trader. In the company were 40 women, five doctors and 200 marines.

The store ships carried cows, horses, sheep, goats, pigs, fowl and seeds of all kinds.

After an eight-month voyage, the fleet reached its destination, Botany Bay. The natives fortunately felt friendly, and tossed aside their weapons to show it.

Captain Phillip decided the bay wouldn't do, so he sailed on to Port Jackson, near Sydney's present site. There he selected a landing cove and named it for the British home secretary, Lord Sydney. A few days later the flag was planted, the colony proclaimed and Phillip named the first governor of what became New South Wales.

The design of the new stamps (2-penny red, 3-penny ultramarine, 5-penny violet) shows a group of British naval officers in a grove of trees, with the inlet and three ships in the background. The inscription reads: "Governor Phillip at Sydney Cove, 1788—150th Anniversary."

Philately at College

Filatelikus, the Columbia university stamp club, is sponsoring a permanent Nicholas Murray Butler trophy to be awarded for the best frame of stamps shown.

The original research exhibited at the Annual Intercollegiate Philatelic exhibition (February 23-26, at Columbia).

Universities now offering extension courses in philately are Harvard, Temple and Minnesota.

The adult (night) school of South Orange, N. J., has added a similar course to its curriculum.

Ivory Coast Explorer

A mustachioed French captain, Louis Gustave Binger, explored that whole African region between the Niger and the Gulf of Guinea in 1887-89. He visited

Bontuku and the Kong country, and signed protectorate treaties with the chiefs. Later, in 1892, he explored the Ivory Coast interior some more, and in 1893 he was named first governor of the colony which until then had been administered as part of Senegal.

Now Ivory Coast has issued a handsomely engraved 65-centime stamp in red brown to commemorate the 50th anniversary of Binger's march through the jungle. The design shows a head of the captain, right, with natives and a hut, left. Below is the line, "L. Binger—1856-1936."

Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Van Der Mark and family and Mrs. Jane Van Der Mark spent Christmas Day with Mr. and Mrs. John Van Der Mark and family of Metacabons.

Mrs. Laura Davis and daughters entertained a number of relatives and friends on Christmas Day.

Mr. and Mrs. Rowland Osterhout entertained relatives on Christmas Day.

Joseph and Frank Schramm left on Monday for Ormond Beach, Fla., where they have employment for the winter.

Mr. and Mrs. Claude Christiansa and family spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Japhet Christiansa of Rose Hill.

Mrs. John D. Smith spent Christmas Day with relatives in Kingston.

AUGUST, 1937: Congress Goes Home; Stocks Start Decline

By VOLTA TORREY

Eighth in a Series

August, 1937, brought "the big apple" and bounteous crops. But congress was too farmed to care when workers cried for crop control. Promising to try that step first next session, the embittered lawmakers scrambled. They had kicked through a housing bill, put through a tax loophole, ordered a national unemployment census. But the fiercely debated minimum-wage and maximum-hour bill was not passed; nor had regional planning been launched.

Alabama's first lady, Mrs. Bibb Graves, had flown into Huxo Black's senate seat in the session; he had shifted to Justice Van Devanter's spot. Senator Copeland, warning up for the race to be mayor of New York charged at the outset that Black was a Ku Klux Klan "sympathizer." But the senate opened the appointment, 67 to 36, a heavy margin than had been given either Chief Justice Hughes or veteran Justice Brandeis.

JAPAN DRIVES SOUTH AND WEST
Over more and more of China her flag flew.

sex crimes and outbreaks of infantile paralysis frightened parents. A national crusade against syphilis gained momentum.

France Moves on
Charley Zimm, a legless man, swam down the Hudson from Albany to Manhattan. Tommy Farr stayed 15 rounds with Joe Louis. The America's Cup race came out as usual. The 7,000,000th visitor saw the Paris fair. Paul Muni's "Zola" was applauded. Motion fans were booning double features, and dancers humming "A Sailboat in the Moonlight."

Strikes and stocks began to decline. NLRB hearings made the headlines. German-American summer camps were viewed with alarm by anti-nazis. A wave of

The British admiralty complained that "promiscuous sinking of ships" in the blue Mediterranean was getting "a bit steep." New Premier Chamberlain corresponded with Mussolini, however, in cordial terms.

Spain was two-thirds fascist. Insurgent General Franco's troops closed in on Santander, squeezing the life out of it. But Franco's press agent erred—climbing out of a plane in territory he thought his boys held, the publicity man found himself among loyalists and was tossed off to jail.

Shanghai Bombed
America talked about sending warships to Brazil. And somewhere in the Arctic, a Russian plane disappeared.

In Shanghai, bombs kerplunked in the shopping center, warships hurried broadsides at business buildings, shells spat around tugs toying foreigners away.

One exploding egg from a Chinese bomber just missed an American liner's smokestack. A Japanese airman machine-gunned and seriously wounded "Old Snatch," the British ambassador to Nanking.

China's coast was closed, America sent more marines. "Without attempting to pass judgment," secretary Hull appealed for peace.

"Our final victory," Mrs. Chiang Kai-shek promised, "will erase forever the days of humiliation which for so long have crowded our calendar and remove the sorrow which for years has bent our heads and bowed our hearts."

Bird's Christmas Carol Presented At Presbyterian

The chapel of the Rondout Presbyterian Church was crowded to the doors Tuesday evening when the pupils of the Sunday school presented "The Bird's Christmas Carol," a play in three scenes, and Santa Claus paid his annual visit to the school.

Following the visit of the patron saint of the children ice cream was served to all in the audience. The annual Christmas party was one of the most successful in the history of the school.

Great credit for the fine presentation of the play was due Miss Mary Staples who not only directed the play but took the leading part in the presentation. She was ably assisted by Mrs. Harry N. Karnaghan. The incidental music was played by Miss Grace Terwilliger who also portrayed one of the characters in the play.

Miss Staples took the part of Mrs. Ruggles while those who played the parts of her nine children in the play were Robert G. Van Dusen, Emily Wells, Margaret Crane, Alice Wells, James Armstrong, Joseph Banks, Hamilton Darling, Beatrice Joy and Mary Elizabeth Van Valkenburgh. Other parts were taken by Mrs. Karnaghan, Miss Terwilliger, Mary Darling and William Hendricks, superintendent of the Sunday school.

As the curtain dropped on the final scene of play Santa Claus in the person of Everett V. K. Schutt made his appearance and was joyfully greeted by the children. Standing under the big Christmas tree he called out the names of the recipients of the gifts and not a scholar or teacher of the school was overlooked.

Metropolitan Buys Lucille Blanche Florida Canvas

Lucille Blanche, of Woodstock, was one of seven artists honored last week, it was announced Tuesday, by the Metropolitan Museum of Art, New York city, when one of her paintings, "Florida Wildflowers" was bought for the permanent collection.

The acquisitions, made with the Hearn Fund, made a total of 28 works bought during the year for the permanent collection of contemporary art at the museum. Three women and four men painters gained recognition of the museum.

The seven canvases include "Candida," by Renee Andre; "Florida Wildflowers," by Lucille Blanche; "Connecticut Apple Tree," by Bertram Hartmann; "Willow Trees," by Morris Kantor; "The Beach, Miami," by Ernest Lawson; "Cat and Snake," by Katherine Schmidt; and "Mourning Doves," by Henry E. Schnakenberg. One canvas, that of Mr. Schnakenberg, went in exchange for another Schnakenberg canvas, "The Velvet Dress," which the museum acquired last year.

Lucille Blanche, well known Woodstock artist, was born at Hawley, Minn., in 1895, and studied at the Minneapolis Institute of Art and the Art Students League of New York with F. V. du Mond. A winner in 1933 of the John Simon Guggenheim fellowship in painting, she has taught the last two years at the Ringling School of Arts at Sarasota, Fla. She is represented in the Whitney Museum, which owns seven of her paintings and a series of drawings, and is a member of the American Society of Painters, Sculptors and Gravers. Her last exhibition was held in October at the Mith Gallery, from which the painting "Wildflowers" was acquired.

Service
Detroit, Mich.—From 1 to 5 a. m. on the first day of 1938, Fred A. Nolan said, "there will be a lot of people who will not feel like walking any farther than necessary."

And there'll be motorists who won't want to drive home from a party.

So Nolan, general manager of Detroit's street railway and motorbus system, announced that, between the hours mentioned, "all our busses will go right to the door of any passenger who lives on a paved street not more than two blocks off the regular route."

It won't do Japan much good if she turns China into a poorhouse.

Dead-Eye Gerald
Lisbon, Iowa.—As he had done many times before with meticulous care, Gerald (Toot) Hill, town bank cashier, drew his pistol and fired toward the skylight, ending the first half of a Cornell College basketball game.

To the floor, almost at his feet, feathers following in its wake, dropped the carcass of a pigeon. Students, concealed in the rafters above, chorled loudly.

1938 Resolution
Omaha, Neb.—Eight persons arrested here for drunkenness stood before Municipal Judge Lester Palmer today and made this vow: "I hereby promise not to take a drink in 1938. If I fail to keep my word I will serve a year in jail."

Judge Palmer released them all.

Dead-Eye Gerald

Lisbon, Iowa.—As he had done many times before with meticulous care, Gerald (Toot) Hill, town bank cashier, drew his pistol and fired toward the skylight, ending the first half of a Cornell College basketball game.

To the floor, almost at his feet, feathers following in its wake, dropped the carcass of a pigeon. Students, concealed in the rafters above, chorled loudly.

1938 Resolution

Omaha, Neb.—Eight persons arrested here for drunkenness stood before Municipal Judge Lester Palmer today and made this vow: "I hereby promise not to take a drink in 1938. If I fail to keep my word I will serve a year in jail."

Judge Palmer released them all.

"Service With A Smile" is on an Undertaker's sign at Marlborough, Arkansas. The old man.

Judge—What's the charge against this man, officer?
Officer—Bigotry, yer honor. He's got three wives.
Judge—I'm surprised at your ignorance, officer. That's trigonometry, not bigotry.

A tall and stately girl is merely a long, lanky girl with money.

Grandpa, after lunch, was snoring. As mother entered the room she saw Junior (twisting one of the buttons on the old man's vest):
Mother (whispering)—Junior, didn't I tell you not to disturb Grandpa?
Junior (grinning)—I'm not, Mother Dear, I'm just trying to tune in something different.

The average congregation would rather be lulled than awakened.
Helen—I've just come back from the beauty parlor.
Irene—Too bad it was closed.

A lot of those who are not kings also are getting crowned these days.

Mother (to son wandering around the room)—What are you looking for?
Son—Nothing.
Mother—You'll find it in the box where the candy was.

It doesn't take a woman long to pick out a hat, if she's selecting one for her husband.

Mother—Junior, if you don't stop running around the house so fast you'll fall and hurt yourself.
Junior—But if I don't run, Mother, I'll get hurt anyway. Daddy's chasing me.

Pretty Secretary—May I have next week's salary? I'm broke!
Boss—No, my wife made me promise not to make any advances to you.

Every successful man is educated. Bees have no book learning, but you never saw one that wasn't an expert.

Mr. Crabber—I'll have some raw oysters, not too large, not too small, not too salty nor too fat. They must be cold and I want them quickly.
Waiter—Yes, sir. And with or without pearls?

Competition among the women is the life of the business for the style shops....And fun for the men, too.

Vivian—Once I got a pearl out of an old oyster.

Sally—My sister beat you. She got a diamond out of an old crab.

People who haven't time to do things worth while are usually busy with trifles.

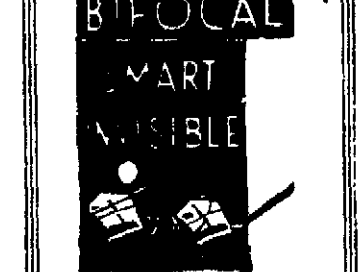

Mac—You say this house is double plastered?
Friend—Sure. Once by the plasterers. Once by the mortgage company.

Here is a test of ability:
If you lost your money.
If you lost your business.
If you lost your job.
Could you still earn a living?

Bold, Bad Man—My home town is so tough that the canaries all sing bass.

Crony—Huh! That's nothin'. Where I hail from they had to shoot a man to start a graveyard.

Hollywood

Sights And Sounds

By ROBBIN COONS

HOLLYWOOD—Probably no body in Hollywood is writing his congressman about the housing problem in this stellar community, but a few letters could be written on the subject.
Finding a roof for the stellar head is a bigger problem than you'd think. Listening to a house-hunting star relate his woes in house-hunting is enough to stir you into a lather of sympathy. It isn't that there aren't plenty of houses. One hunter recently insisted to me that every house he saw was for rent—as soon as the owner learned the hunter was a movie star.

Prices Scare 'Em Away

Just to illustrate, there's the case of France's Annabella. Annabella needed a large place, what with family, servants and retainers. Her agents selected a list of suitable homes, presented them for her choice. And Annabella, who is wiser now, went for a personal inspection. She went in her big car, driven by a chauffeur, and didn't bother to conceal the fact she was in pictures. Oddly, the prices quoted to her jumped from those quoted to the agents. She didn't take one. John Cromwell, who was leaving town for a while, leased his place to her out of sympathy.

Picture people travel so much now that one star frequently lets another rent his home during an absence. Colleen Moore's big estate, with swimming pool, tennis courts and all, has sheltered many another star, including Marlene Dietrich. The Countess di Frasso's place has been occupied in turn by Dietrich, the Jack Bennys and currently by Fannie Brice, Beatrice Lillie, Ann Pennington and Sophie Tucker, a merry foursome.

These travels, or just the urge to move, are responsible for the constantly changing addresses of screen celebrities. Garbo, who rented Neil Hamilton's place, has moved out and Jack Oakie has moved in. Garbo's housing requirements include, first of all, privacy. Alice Faye likes to move for a change of scenery. Mary, like Ethel Merman, Martha Raye, Dorothy Lamour, prefer apartments.

Most of the stars eventually build their own homes. Some who already own their own homes build others. Bing Crosby, Dick Powell, Paul Muni, Fredric March, Claudette Colbert, Fred MacMurray, Pat O'Brien are among the big taxpayers, and Kay Francis, long a renter of modest homes, is building her own in a canyon.

MARLBOROUGH

Golden Wedding

Marlborough, Dec. 29 — On Christmas Day, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Conn, Sr., celebrated their 50th wedding anniversary in their home just north of Marlborough village. Mr. and Mrs. Conn were married on December 25, 1887. It was a day of celebration in their home and more than 150 relatives and friends gathered from all parts of the eastern states to help celebrate the occasion. One cousin was present from Deland, Fla., another from Baxley, Ga., and still another from Watervliet. Mr. and Mrs. Conn together with their children received the guests as they entered. At home with their mother and father are Robert, Jr., Frank and Miss Margaret Conn, the unmarried children, and living within a radius of two or three miles are their other children and their families. Lemuel Conn, Mrs. Edith Conn, Boreen, Mrs. Della Conn, Mrs. Susan Conn Clark, and Mrs. Anna Conn Reese. Mrs. Conn is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Ferguson, of Mount Zion. For three years they resided in Marlborough before moving to the fruit farm which they have since occupied. Many telegrams of good wishes were received by absent relatives and friends of the couple. The happy couple received a number of beautiful and useful gifts and numerous baskets of flowers.

Village Notes

Marlborough, Dec. 28—The annual Christmas party of the Presbyterian Sunday School was held on Monday evening in the lecture rooms of the church with Mrs. Edward Quimby in charge assisted by the teachers of the Sunday School. The festivities were opened with the singing of Christmas Carols, with Mrs. Quimby at the piano. Refreshments were served of ice cream and cookies after which John Quimby distributed the gifts, he was assisted by Chester Alberson.

The Rev. Claude McIntosh, of East Moriches, L. I., has formally accepted the call to the First Presbyterian Church of Marlborough, and with his wife and child, expects to assume his duties about the middle of January.

Charles Quinn, student at State College for Teachers at Albany, is spending his vacation at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Quinn, of the Rock road. The Marlborough Firemen have placed as usual a large Christmas tree in the center of the village. It is very pretty with its many lighted bulbs and is appreciated by the residents.

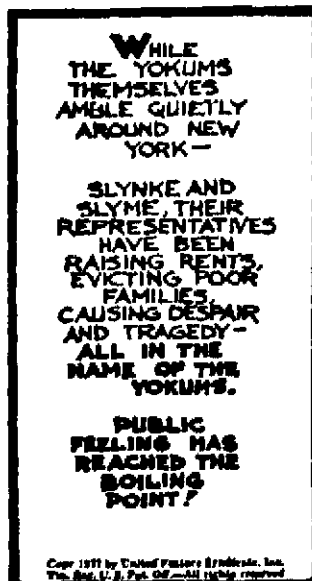

Mrs. Olive Kniffen, and father, Irving Kniffen, spent Christmas Day in Catskill at the home of their sister and daughter, Mrs. Cleora Hornbeck, and son, Harold.

Mr. and Mrs. Van Allen Salisbury spent Christmas Day in Catskill at the home of their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Michael Ruzzie and daughter.

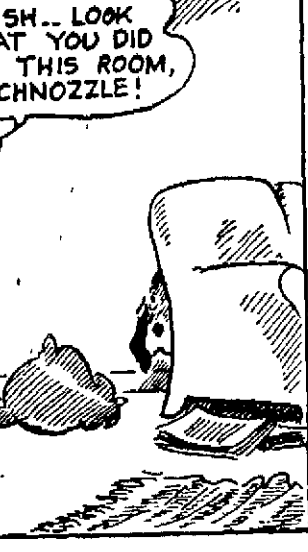

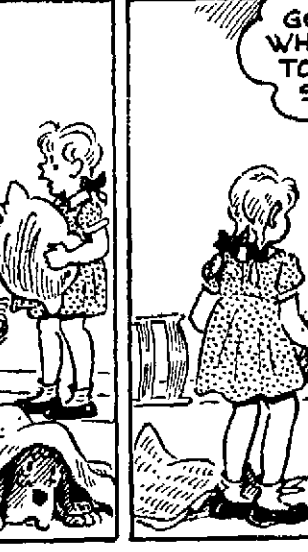

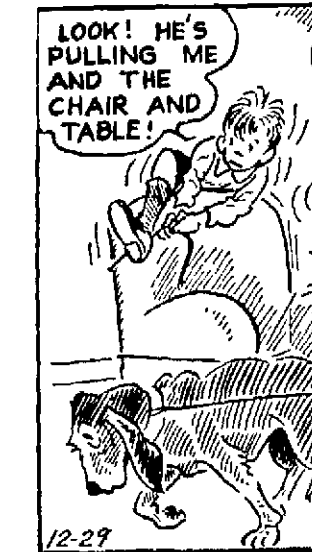

Mr. and Mrs. Albert Marks and daughter and Mrs. Frank Hannigan visited on Sunday in Highland at the home of Mr. and Mrs. James Hannigan and family on White street.

Broadway: "Stand-In." The inner workings of the motion picture industry are vividly and humorously explained in this grand comedy tale of a studious young man who goes west to take over the affairs of a picture studio. The show is a regular Hollywood parade as it explains the details of production, shows how the lion at the movie capital is lived with its hates, its joys and its ambitions. The show stars Leslie Howard and he is perfect in the character of the rather simple young man who enters the picture industry a novice and becomes famous later on. The play also offers such sterling performers as Joan Blondell, Humphrey Bogart, Alan Mowbray, C. Henry Gordon and Jack Carson. Tay Garnett directed.

Kingston: "Thrill of a Lifetime" and "Fight for Your Lady." Two average double features are offered at the Kingston, the first a romantic little number about a boy and a girl with both ambition and talent. This one features Johnny Downs and Eleanor Whitney. "Fight for Your Lady" is the associate feature, a comedy drama with Jack Oakie and John Boles starred. "Wake Up and Live" Filled with girls, gags and songs, this really brilliant musical novelty is worth seeing because it brings Ben Bernie and Walter Winchell together on the screen after their much publicized radio feud. This is a rather old picture but it still sparkles with clever dialogue and the songs and dance numbers are above average. Alice Faye and Patsy Kelly are featured in the large cast.

Tomorrow

Broadway: Same.

Kingston: Same.

Orpheum: "Here's Flash Casey" and "Off Again, On Again".

Eric Linden and Boots Mallory are the main players in the first drama at the Orpheum, a story of an ambitious young man while "Off Again, On Again" is a Bert Wheeler, Robert Woolsey comedy number with the two boys working hard to create the laughs. This is far from their best picture but it has its moments of real humor.

Japanese Question To Be Discussed At Radio Forum

What Will Japanese Victory Mean to America? will be the topic for discussion by Charles C. Batchelder and Upton Close at "America's Town Meeting of the Air" on Thursday, December 30, at the Kingston Y. M. C. A. at 9:30 p. m.

Charles C. Batchelder has been a commercial attaché in Peking, China, United States trade commissioner in India, secretary of the interior for the Philippines, an expert on economics at the Washington conference and an expert to the limitation of armaments conference in 1922. He was at one time chief of the Eastern division of foreign domestic commerce under the War Department and served as trade commissioner and commercial attaché in India, China, Japan and other European countries. Mr. Batchelder holds the view that American intervention is necessary to stop Japanese inroads in China.

Upton Close, in his youth on the staff of Dictator Wu Peifu and editor of Chinese and English language papers, has been called the "greatest historian of contemporary Asia." He is the author of a half dozen books on Chinese problems, represented the League of Nations in Manchuria and was special investigator for the United States Department of State in Shantung. A contributor to leading American magazines, Mr. Close believes that Japan has "bitten off" too much and cannot conquer China. He advises American non-intervention.

Reverse English
Eagleview, Mo.—Mrs. Fern Bailey, teacher at Lone Star Rural School, let her pupils decide how long their Christmas vacation should be. Instead of two weeks—or longer—they decided on only one day.

The coarse, outer leaves of celery and other greens ordinarily discarded will add flavor and nutriment to soups; also what little liquid is drained from boiled vegetables.

SHOKAN

Shokan, Dec. 23.—Mr. and Mrs. East Dean of Pelham and Mrs. Laidlaw of Kingston were callers Sunday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Earl Elmendorf.

James A. Hartvig and Gerald Noble of New York have been spending the holidays at the Hartvig country home on the north boulevard.

Christmas carols were sung at several homes in the community Friday night by a large party of Reformed Church young folks.

John and Robert Lawson, sons of Mrs. William Tuceling, are home from Yale University for the holidays.

Mr. and Mrs. Ramon Nadal of Kingston were week-end guests at the Baptiste Nadal farmhouse on the heights.

Mrs. Oscar Ganter and son, Emmet, motored to Rye the latter part of the week and spent Christmas with Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Vanderbent.

Burr Elmendorf motored to Guilford, near Schenectady, Friday and brought back Mr. and Mrs. John Arnold who were Christmas Day guests at the Elmendorf homestead in the village.

Jerry Phillips, Tonche Mountain teamster, has employment at Winnisook Lake.

Mr. and Mrs. Herman Wendt, Jr., spent the week-end with relatives here. The Wendts were accompanied by Flushing by Mrs. Elmendorf, grandfather of Mrs. Wendt.

Irving Weeks, younger son of Fred Weeks, left Shokan last week for Florida where he will spend the winter months.

Postmaster Julia Winchell's Pekinese dog died last week. The valuable dog was a gift to Mrs. Winchell from Lacey Sampson, well-known summer resident of Glenford.

The Olive and Hurley Old School Baptists, who have been holding religious meetings at the homes of members for several weeks past, plan to resume services in the local meeting house next Sunday. The interior of the church has been redecorated throughout, and a hardwood floor laid over the old pine flooring.

Robert Peck, Jr., is at the Peck summer home on the mountain for a few days.

A family gathering took place Christmas Day at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Nelson Bell in honor of the couple's 60th wedding anniversary. Guests present upon this pleasing reunion included Mr. and Mrs. Frank Sharwell, Norfolk, Va.; Justin Bell and Miss Virginia Bell of Hurley, and Mr. and Mrs. Jervis Bell of Kingston.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward Moran of the Bronx last week became the parents of a baby son, their second child, who has been named Edward. Mr. Moran is the former Miss Florence Hughes of Shokan.

Mr. and Mrs. William Tuceling have invested in a new Plymouth sedan.

The Shokan school Christmas party Wednesday evening of last week was a happy affair, greatly enjoyed by those in attendance. The teacher, Mrs. E. C. Burgher, and her pupils were assisted in the exercises by several high school students, while Charles Personous and Herbert Wells, former pupils, furnished instrumental music.

Santa Visits Union Hose

Making his rounds of the various parties put on for the kiddies at Christmas time, Santa Claus (Jess Sparling) called in at Union Hose in Ponckhockie, to chat with the little folks entertained by the firemen and the Ladies' Auxiliary. Here are some of the 300 children with John Henry of the hose company and Mrs. Julia Kane of the Auxiliary.

There was a fine tree, and Santa Claus handed out a large number of gifts to members of the school.

Clayton Christians, well-known Krumville young man, was a caller here Saturday.

Mrs. Jane Beemer is reported still seriously ill. She is a sister of Alonzo Haver, local garage proprietor.

Philip Chopay and family of Springfield Valley, L. I., were Christmas Day guests of Mr. and Mrs. George Giles. Mrs. Chopay and her son, George, will remain at the Giles home for the holidays.

Mr. and Mrs. Denis T. Lynch and sons are at the Lynch country home near Tice Ten Eyck mountain for a few days.

Mr. and Mrs. John Haggerty of Kingston were callers in this section Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Volmek of Poughkeepsie were Christmas Day and week-end guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Giles.

Cards have been received here from Mrs. Ben A. Peterson, the former Denise Lynch, who is now making her home in Argentina.

The Christmas party of the Reformed Sunday school, held at the church Friday evening, was well attended. The pleasing program of songs and recitations was arranged and directed by Mrs. E. C. Burgher. The offertory number was a local duet by Mrs. Burgher and Homer Markle, Jr., accompanied by Miss Hazel Bell at the organ.

The affair was concluded with a Christmas tree and distribution of presents by Santa Claus. Eugene McCafferty of New York was at his mountain road place over the week-end.

Stanley Jones is home from Taylor University for the holidays. Grant Lennox, a former resident of Hurley, came here from Valley Stream last week to spend a few days with his niece, Mrs. Burr Elmendorf, and family.

A family gathering took place at the home of Ephraim Weeks Saturday. Those present at dinner included Mr. and Mrs. George Weeks of Stone Ridge.

Mr. and Mrs. Moses Rowe of Burdette were recent callers at the home of Charles Green and family and Miss Bertha Green.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Palen of New York spent Christmas and the week-end with relatives in Shokan and Ashokan.

Mrs. John Hamilton of Kingston and daughter, Edna, of the New Paltz Normal School, spent Christmas with Mrs. Hamilton's mother, Mrs. Julia Hogan.

HURLEY

Hurley, Dec. 29.—Mrs. John Brink, Miss Sarah Brink and George Wooster spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. William Rappaport at their home in Salt Point.

Four new members were received into the church on Sunday morning. They were Mrs. Stella Oliver, Leibert, Miss Marjorie Carnright, Miss Hazel Bacon and Miss Bertha Rosa.

Miss Elizabeth DeWitt is spending the holiday vacation with her sister, Miss Cornelia DeWitt, in Brooklyn.

The Rev. and Mrs. Chester Chilton were the guests of Mr. Chilton's brother in Hackensack, N. J., over Christmas week-end.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Gustafson spent Saturday and Sunday with Mrs. Gustafson's parents, Mr. and Mrs. William Van Keuren, in New Jersey.

'EYE ON THE BALL, SON' doesn't mean golf when it's John T. Allen, Cleveland pitcher, who won 15 consecutive games last season, telling his son Johnnie, 2, a fundamental in baseball. But Johnnie figures that pitching starts from the ground up, so he keeps a sharp eye on his dad's footwork. The pair had a practice session at St. Petersburg, Fla.

One Case to Go On Trial Monday, In Supreme Court

One case, No. 27, Walter Knubel, Jr., by Walter Knubel, guardian, against Frank Newmann, an action to recover damages in tort; false arrest and malicious prosecution, was announced as ready for trial Monday afternoon when the January trial term of Supreme Court will be convened. Walter J. Miller for plaintiff and F. A. Castellano, Jr. for defendant.

County Clerk James A. Simpson in accordance with the rule of the court called the calendar Tuesday afternoon at 3:30 o'clock for marking. Jurors will be in attendance Monday at 11 o'clock and at 2 o'clock the calendar will be taken up. Justice Schrick will preside.

Six cases were announced settled on the call. Those settled are:

No. 79, Herbert L. Stanton against Clarence H. Osborne, action to recover rent under a lease. Herman Cohen for plaintiff and Benjamin Linstein for defendant.

No. 126, Isaac B. Levy against Hugo Kastor, goods sold and delivered. Joseph H. Forman for plaintiff and Newton H. Fessenden for defendant.

No. 138, Aaron Beckerman and another, plaintiff, vs. Abraham Feinberg and another, defendant, action for money damages and injunction. Robert G. Groves for plaintiff and Manuel Dittenheimer for defendant.

No. 133, Jack Bernkrant against Walter L. Schausser and another, action in negligence to recover money damages. Manuel Dittenheimer for plaintiff and Philip A. Rorty and Bernard A. Culliton for defendant.

No. 151, Hilston A. Tweedie against Liberty Fast Freight Co., Inc., an action for property damages; negligence. Frank Campochiaro for plaintiff and Andrew J. Cook for defendant.

Of the 193 cases on the calendar 38 were marked for trial and 46 went over by consent. Several were not answered.

The January trial term this year is a change in the usual schedule in Ulster county. Because of the Constitutional Convention this year the usual schedule has been revised to give Ulster county a trial term in January, March, May and eliminating the fall term the fourth term will be as usual in December. There will be no Supreme court trial term in the county from May to December.

Jersey City Fire Is Spectacular

Jersey City, N. J., Dec. 29 (AP)—A spectacular three-alarm fire endangered the lives of scores of people in the city's largest hotel today, but was brought under control quickly without fatalities.

Dozens of residents of the eight-story plaza, situated on Journal Square in the heart of the business sector, climbed down fire ladders to safety; at least two men jumped from the sixth floor into life nets; firemen carried out others.

Several were taken to hospitals for treatment. Among them a negro maid who was trapped in a smoke-filled seventh floor room until firemen reached her by ladders.

The blaze, firemen said, was started by a Christmas tree in the ground floor lobby. Before those in the rooms above could make their escape, it spread through that floor, blocked elevators and stairways.

Journal Square, busy transportation center, soon was a scene of utter confusion. Fire equipment, nearly all in the city, rushed to the area. To permit the raising of ladders, trolley wires were cut. Automobile and bus traffic was stalled. Thousands of spectators looked on as partially dressed hotel residents emerged from windows to safety outside.

and Game Meeting at Hall, Jan. 3

Annual meeting of the Ulster Fish and Game Protection Association will be held in Common Council chambers of city hall, Monday evening, Jan. 3, at 8 o'clock, for the election of officers and acting routine business. The meeting will be open to all interested in hunting or fishing. Among the matters to be discussed will be the proposed game law, and the importance of the game law to the conservation of the game.

National Meet for M. C. A. Sports

After eight years of conducting separate sports championships in different parts of the United States, the National Council Y. M. C. A. will reverse its policy and hold one national championship competition for all "Y" sports in Detroit, April 29 to May 1, George T. Hepburn, chairman of events, has notified Charles Henke, physical director of the Kingston Y. M. C. A. The new policy is the outcome of last year's combined aquatic championships and requests from various associations for a national athletic demonstration, reports Mr. Hepburn. The Detroit meet will stress the "Y's" health programs and bring together the leading laymen, physicians and physical directors responsible for athletic activities.

Birdseye View Of Sports Events

By EDDIE BRIETZ
New York, Dec. 29 (AP)—Here are the latest odds on the various "bowl" football games, fresh from St. Louis: California is rated seven points better than Alabama, 8 to 5 against the Crimson Tide.

Same odds prevail on Louisiana State over Santa Clara in the Sugar Bowl. Rice is figured 13 points better than Colorado at Dallas with the odds 2 to 1. Auburn and West Virginia are given three point margins over Michigan State and Texas Tech in the Orange and Sun Bowl games. Same figures go for the all-east-west game at San Francisco. A. U.

Lou Gehrig (and the Mrs.) are on their way to Hollywood by motor for Lou's first movie. Jimmy Phelan of Washington is the latest to be mentioned for Harry Kipke's old Michigan job. Sammy Baugh is reported getting ready to demand $25,000 from the Washington Redskins next season, but, being a sensible young man, he'll gladly settle for $15,000. Sammy picks Alabama, Auburn, Rice, Santa Clara and West Virginia as Saturday's football winners.

Lou Ambers, the lightweight champion, will make one New Year's resolution he means to keep—to stay away from Henry Armstrong's door. Big time wrestling has been almost a total flop in New York this season. Ray Fabiani, the Philadelphia concert master, who tried to step into Jack Curley's shoes, has dropped more potatoes than he cares to count.

Jimmy Dykes of the White Sox will bet you even money the Yanks don't win the American League pennant next year. Says they're going to miss Tony Lazzari, whom he calls the world's best at changing pitchers.

WRESTLING LAST NIGHT

(By The Associated Press)
New Haven, Conn.—George Koverly, 218, Hollywood, Calif., defeated Jack Donovan, 222, Boston, two of three falls.

Reading, Pa.—Sammy Cohen, 210, Chicago, threw Tony Slano, 190, New York, 12:51.

Providence, R. I.—George (Dazzler) Clark, 210, Scotland, downed Abe Rothberg, 205, New York, 10:47.

New York—Match between Steve Casey, 225, Ireland, and Jack Zarnas, 215, Greece, declared "no contest". Referee claimed Zarnas outclassed.

Lincoln, Neb.—Paul Jones, 220, Lincoln, awarded referee's decision over Joe Dusek, 225, Omaha, for unnecessary roughness.

Minneapolis—Bronko Nagurski, 235, International Falls, Minn., defeated Bhui Pinder, 225, Bombay, India, one fall.

4-Main Event Boxing Show at The Auditorium

The stage is ready for the special holiday card of amateur boxing bouts at the municipal auditorium tonight, featuring four headlines and three preliminaries.

Any one of the four five rounds could be put in as the star attraction, all of the scrappers matched in them being among the outstanding talent in the Adirondack division of the A. A. U.

For local color, the pairing between Mario Severino and Irving Van Kleeck takes the spotlight. Kingston fans being interested in seeing what Van Kleeck can do with the popular little pugger from Schenectady.

Stories of how Irving went up from Kingston and gave Severino a hard battle in the Diamond Belt tournament have aroused the curiosity of the fans of fistiana herabouts and they want to see the two clash it out for five rounds.

The match was made at the insistence of Van Kleeck, who demanded a crack at Severino in the auditorium. "I think I can give Severino the kind of fight Kingston fans like," said Van. "and I want them to see it."

Both battlers are the mixing type. Severino never steps away, and Van Kleeck takes a lot to hand out what he has, which means a real slugfest.

Other favorites on tonight's bill are Cliff Leger, Sammy Rizzo, Joe Triola, Charlie Forezzi, Buddy Emerson and Frankie Thompson. Ballston battler, substituting for Artie Kahn, who is ill.

The full card:
Five Rounds
Mario Severino, Schenectady, vs. Irving Van Kleeck, Kingston.
Sammy Rizzo, Johnstown, vs. Joe Triola, Albany.

Three Rounds
Frankie Thompson, Ballston, vs. Buddy Emerson, Kingston.
Cliff Leger, Mohawk Indian, vs. Charlie Forezzi, Albany.

Charlie Riggins, Saugerties, vs. Billy Pender, Newburgh.
Monk Armstrong, Kingston, vs. Ray Stagg, Newburgh.
Frankie Emerson, Kingston, vs. Kid Miller, Kingston.

champion, ahead of Ambers in the lightweight rankings. But Lou doesn't seem to mind. He cocked a leg placidly over the arm of a chair that sits in the house his ring earnings bought for his aging mother and dowered: Let 'em pick whom they want. When we get into a ring together we'll fight. If he likes me, okay. If he doesn't—well, it won't be the first time those writers have been wrong."

New York—Al Reid, 126½, New York, outpointed Jack Kelly, Jr. 129½, Union City, N. Y. (10).

Toronto—Chuck Woods, 154½, Detroit, outpointed Gordon Wallace, 118½, Vancouver (8).

New York—Pete Scalzo, 125½, New York, outpointed Cristobal Jaramillo, 125½, Puerto Rico (8).

If you believe librarians, business is good. Not their business so much as other people's. The libraries have most patronage in the late depression. They reached an all-time high, for volume of reading, in the late depression. It saddens them to see their circulation go down with an increase of general business activity; but fortunately it doesn't drop to its old bottom. Some of the depression benefit remains. People who in sheer desperation have contracted the reading habit in hard times never quite get over it.

Held In Death

Mrs. Sophie Arcuri (above) was held at Greenbrook, N. J., following her purported confession that she killed the infant daughter of her landlord and put the body under a Christmas tree. Police quoted her as saying "their baby was warm and mine was cold" because of lack of heat in her apartment.

Kingston Hospital Dance on February 5

Now that Christmas is over, thoughts and interests face the pleasures and activities of the New Year. The Kingston Hospital Auxiliary is planning a dance at the Governor Clinton Hotel on Saturday evening, February 5. Preparations are under way to make this a memorable occasion, a pleasant evening, and the committee hopes, a financial success. Each year the auxiliary endeavors to raise money for much needed accessories for the hospital. It will be remembered that the very decorative Gypsy Ball given by the auxiliary in 1934 was an outstanding social success. Again the members hope to have friends of the Kingston Hospital aid in this most worthy cause.

Recently, Mrs. Fred Snyder, president of the auxiliary, called a meeting of the dance committee at her home on Clinton avenue. At the close of the meeting Mrs. Snyder served tea with Mrs. Conrad J. Heiselman presiding at the attractively arranged tea table. The committees arranging for the dance are as follows: General chairman, Mrs. Fred Snyder; publicity, Mrs. R. Frederic Childsey; music, Mrs. Kenneth H. LeFever; hotel arrangements, Mrs. John B. Krom; table decorations, Mrs. Stanley Matthews; cigarettes, Mrs. A. B. Shufeldt; tickets, Mrs. Parker K. Brinlier; Mrs. Arthur L. Colligan; Mrs. Frederic S. Carr; Mrs. R. Frederic Childsey; Mrs. Mortimer B. Downer; Mrs. C. Ray Gervelt; Mrs. Conrad J. Heiselman; Mrs. John B. Krom; Mrs. Kenneth H. LeFever; Mrs. Stanley Matthews; Mrs. Harold L. Rakov; Mrs. George W. Russ; Mrs. Edward H. Remmert; Mrs. A. B. Shufeldt; Mrs. A. S. Staples; Mrs. J. H. Tremper; Mrs. J. Spottiswood Taylor and Mrs. Arthur H. Wickes.

Mormel Club Banquet
On Monday evening exactly 20 members of the Mormel Club of Stone Ridge held their annual banquet at the Maple Arch Homestead in Old Hurley where they were served a Turkey Dinner. Following a delicious meal the members participated in various forms of entertainment which consisted of bridge, singing and story telling. Those attending this yearly dinner were Mr. and Mrs. Raymond K. Osterhoudt, Mr. and Mrs. Howard Basten, Miss Betty Basten, Miss Frances Pine, John Basten, Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Basten, Mrs. E. Hansen, Friend Sheldon, Miss F. Lounsbury, Fred Meek, Mrs. R. Roosa, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Renson, and Mr. and Mrs. Guy Andrews.

Helen Bates, a member of the student body of New Paltz Normal, who resides at the Maple Arch Homestead in Hurley, left for Bloomfield, N. J., Tuesday morning to visit Connell Rozell for the remainder of the week. On Saturday morning Miss Bates is expected to motor to Hurley again and then return to her studies at the normal school. Mrs. Helen Bates of Old Hurley has returned home after an extended vacation in Denison, Ia. Lloyd Slater, Cornell University sophomore, is at home for the holidays.

Hotness to Pupils
Miss Lucinda Merritt entertained for her piano pupils and their parents at a holiday party on Tuesday afternoon at her home on Emerson street. The group played games and sang carols appropriate to the season. Flora Lyke and Maria Nekos played the piano accompaniments to the games and also assisted Miss Merritt in accompanying the songs, for some of which Robert Merritt played a clarinet obbligato. Raymond Snyder played a piano duet with his teacher and Marjorie Merritt sang a Christmas solo. Refreshments were served from a table decorated with candles and a miniature Christmas tree.

Honored on Birthday
Mr. and Mrs. Frank Shaw of Highland avenue entertained members of the Jolly Six Club on Friday evening in celebration of Mr. Shaw's birthday. The club also held its Christmas party with each member receiving a gift. Mr. Shaw was presented with a purse from the club. Special Christmas music was furnished by Mrs. Henry Geertz, who favored with Christmas carols.

Y. W. Plans Supper
The Married Women's Club of the Y. W. C. A. is making plans for a bridge supper on Thursday, January 6, at 7 o'clock. Mrs. Parker K. Brinlier, who is chairman of the affair, has assisting her, Mrs. Alfred Doyle, Mrs. R. Gross, Mrs. Eugene Freer, Mrs. Edward Remmert and Mrs. Arthur Colligan.

Mr. and Mrs. John C. Scharp of Marlborough, Mass., spent Christmas with Mr. Scharp's parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Scharp, Sr., 17 Hone street. Mr. Scharp is manager of the W. T. Grant store in Marlborough.

Burger-Bilyou
Miss Mildred H. Bilyou, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Bilyou, of 27 Gill street, and Frank W. Burger, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Burger, of 119 Pine street, were married Christmas morning at 10:30 o'clock at the parsonage of the Albany Avenue Baptist Church by the pastor, the Rev. Arthur S. Cole. They were attended by Miss Elizabeth Hoffman, of St. Remy, and Raymond Wells, of this city. Mrs. Burger is employed by The Mohican Co. Mr. Burger is a driver for the Montgomery Ward Co. For the present they will reside at the home of the groom's parents.

Society Merry As Holiday Hits Peak

With the holiday season at its height, the social world is busy with its week of celebrations. Two more parties were held Tuesday, a bridge tea and a tea dance.

The tea dance was given by Miss Gay Chambers, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Adelbert H. Chambers, and was attended by some 50 of the younger social group. Music for dancing was furnished by George Sora and his orchestra. The punch table was decorated in red and silver. Receiving with Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Gregory, Mr. and Mrs. Stephen Hiltbrand, Mr. and Mrs. George Pratt of Highland and Mr. and Mrs. David Terry was hostess at a bridge tea at her home on Albany avenue on Tuesday afternoon. Those playing bridge were Mrs. Cornelia S. Stafford, Mrs. Robin Stelle, Mrs. Arthur Oudemool, Mrs. Samuel Watts, Mrs. Frank Thompson, Miss Jean Estey, Miss Jessie Allen, Mrs. Charles Tappen, Mrs. Cornelius S. Treadwell, Mrs. William A. Frey, Mrs. Carlton Preston. Later, Mrs. Charles Terwilliger, Mrs. Charles D. Carter, Mrs. Floyd Edinger, Mr. Harry H. Flemming, Mrs. Richard Tappen, Mrs. William Shuler, Miss Mary Starles, Miss Genevieve Carter, and Mrs. Arthur Flemming of Washington, D. C., came in for tea. Mrs. William A. Frey assisted the hostess in pouring.

Over 50 Couples At St. Ursula Dance
Over 50 couples attended the dance at the Knights of Columbus Hall last evening given by the members of the Alumnae Association of the Academy of St. Ursula. Music for the dancing was furnished by Sheridan's Orchestra. The hall was attractively decorated for the Christmas season with holly, wreaths, and Christmas trees. From the center of the ceiling hung var-colored balloons which were used around midnight for the balloon dance. The chaperones for the dance were Mr. and Mrs. T. Bennett, Mr. and Mrs. David T. Flaherty, Mr. and Mrs. Raymond E. Craft, Mrs. John H. Sangly and Mrs. Edward J. Cullen. Miss Phyllis Craft and Robert Craft entertained 16 guests at a supper party preceding the dance.

Hasbrouck-Bloom
A very pretty wedding took place at 4 o'clock on Friday afternoon at the home of George Bloom of Stone Ridge when his only daughter, Miss Mary E. Bloom, became the bride of William M. Hasbrouck, son of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond M. Hasbrouck of New Paltz. The home was artistically decorated for the occasion with evergreens and a large Christmas tree in keeping with the Christmas season. Miss Frances Pine played the wedding march of Mendelssohn and Wagner, and during the ceremony, "O Love Divine and Golden" and "O Perfect Love". The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Alfred H. Coons, pastor of the New Paltz M. E. Church. The bride wore a gown of royal blue velvet with accessories to match and carried an arm bouquet of white roses. Her only attendant was her cousin, Miss Ruth Bloom of Schenectady, who wore a gown of dark rust velvet with matching accessories and carried a tall, narrow, rose. The groom was attended by his brother, Forrest Hasbrouck. A reception followed at the home of the bride after which Mr. and Mrs. Hasbrouck left on a trip through the southern states. On their return they will reside at Stone Ridge. The bride is a graduate of Kingston High School and New Paltz Normal School, class of 1936. The groom is a graduate of New Paltz High School and attended Cornell University.

Geuss-Scholl
Miss Freda M. Scholl, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Scholl of 16 Brewster street, became the bride on Sunday evening of John H. Geuss, son of Mr. and Mrs. Adam Geuss of 16 Hunter street. The ceremony was performed at 5:45 p. m. at St. Peter's Church by the Rev. Henry E. Herdeggen. The bride was dressed in white transparent tulle, in train, and wore a Duchess style lace veil with pearl coronet. She carried an arm bouquet of white daisies and pom-poms. Attending the bride were her two sisters, Mrs. Joseph Disch, as matron of honor and Miss Olga Scholl as bridesmaid. Mrs. Disch wore garnet velvet with matching hat and carried golden chrysanthemums. Miss Scholl wore royal blue velvet with matching accessories and carried a bouquet of pink sweet peas and rose gerbera. The groom had as his best man, his brother, Lawrence Geuss. Joseph S. Disch and Adam Geuss, Jr., were ushers. As the organist, Miss Theresa Gehring, softly played the recessional, the ringing of the evening Angelus could be heard. The wedding breakfast, attended by only the immediate members of the families of the bride and groom, was served at Stieler's Restaurant. Later Mr. and Mrs. Geuss left for New York city. They sailed Tuesday on the S. S. Bremen for a southern cruise, stopping at Bermuda and Nassau. Upon their return they will reside on Tremper avenue where a newly furnished apartment awaits them.

Engagement Announced

expedient to be used until such permanent financing may be arranged. It would seem that the Legislature did not intend that interest on bonds be deemed "interest on loans" within any reasonable construction of Section 223.

Accordingly the interest on bonds, and the necessary cost of advertising, printing and legal services in connection with this means of permanent financing are not costs of the public improvement but are expenditures incidental to the power of the town board under the express authorization of the statute (Section 232, paragraph 4) to adopt this method of permanent financing a public improvement authorized by Article 14 of the Town Law.

If the costs directly attributable to the public improvement, except those which have been excluded, either by way of architects fees or direct expenses, exceed $32,000.00, the payment of such excess costs may be restrained when the obligations are incurred. Presently, however, it has not been shown that they will exceed $32,000.00 and the motion for a temporary injunction is denied without costs.
